SHAKE-UP FOR INTERSTATE COMMERCE LOOMING

Nation-Wide Investigation Of Rate Structure, Is Commission's Order

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The Interstate Commerce commission today ordered an investigation of all the freight rates in the United States.

All pipe line companies, telegraph, telephone and cable companies, express and sleeping car companies and all others engaged in transportation by rail or water who are subject to the interstate commerce act have been made respondents in the proceedings.

While no date has been set for the beginning of this inquiry—the most comprehensive ever undertaken—it is understood that the commission will start this work almost immediately.

The purpose of the investigation, the commission said, is to determine the extent and manner in which the rate structure of the railroads subject to the interstate commerce act is in any respect unlawful and to make in accordance with law such changes, adjustments and redistribution in that rate structure as may be necessary to correct any defects found to exist.

Seeks Assistance
The investigation will be made as directed by a congressional resolution approved by the president on January 3, 1925.

In making the investigation the commission will avail itself as far as it can of the assistance and cooperation of state railroad authorities and the commission has invited the cooperation and assistance of all shippers and railroads.

Changes, if any, in the rate structure of the country will be made after giving due consideration, among other factors, too:

1.—The conditions which prevail in the several industries of the country, insofar as it is legal, possible to do so, to the end that commodities may freely move, consideration of which is declared by Congress to be the rule policy in ratemaking to be pursued by the commission.

2.—The general and competitive levels in market value of the various classes and kinds of commodities as indicated over a reasonable period of years.

3.—A natural and proper development of the country as a whole.

4.—The maintenance of an adequate system of transportation.

It was announced that the public generally, including both shippers and railroads, and the public authorities, state and federal, may file with the commission any desired briefs or statements and may bring to the attention of the commission any appropriate statement of the facts to which they are entitled in the investigation. These must be received not later than May 15.

Dry Agent Is Charged With Being Intoxicated
SAN FRANCISCO, March 17.—Prohibition Director Samuel F. Butler today opened an investigation of charges that I. H. Cory, prohibition agent, had shot up Salada beach roadhouse while intoxicated.

Hen Presents Green Egg on St. Pat's Day
VICTORIA, B. C., March 17.—A wild mallard hen in the possession of Colonel Schreiber, Gonzales hill, must be of Irish extraction. On the eve of St. Patrick's day, she presented the colonel with a rich emerald green egg, instead of the customary buff green color.

Nominated

DR. JACOB SCHURMAN, minister to China, who was today nominated by President Coolidge to be United States ambassador to Germany.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The Senate late this afternoon confirmed the nomination of Dr. Jacob Schurman, present minister to China, to be ambassador to Germany.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Dr. Jacob Schurman, present minister to China, was nominated today by President Coolidge to be United States ambassador to Germany.

Schurman will succeed Alanson Houghton, who was transferred from Berlin to London, following the appointment of Ambassador Kellogg as secretary of state.

The nomination is expected to go to the Senate late today or tomorrow.

William S. Culbertson, now a member of the tariff commission, is reported under consideration for Schurman's post in Peking.

Love Rejected Suitor Shoots Girl And Self

OAKLAND, March 17.—Love, which was not returned, was blamed by police today for the shooting of Thelma Forbes, 18, by Arthur Rosenberg, 22, a pattern maker. Rosenberg fired three shots at the girl and then shot himself. Both were in a critical condition today but physicians said they probably would recover.

Italian Metal Workers Gain, Lose In Strike

ROME, March 17.—The metal workers' strike gained new recruits and lost many who returned to work today. The metal workers of Turin, the majority of whom are Socialists, walked out. At Milan, 6,000 Fascists returned to work and 30,000 Socialists remained away.

Chicago Bandits Make $10,000 Jewelry Haul

CHICAGO, March 17.—Two bandits today held up the Maurice J. Lipkin Jewelry store here, bound and gagged Henry Myer, clerk, and escaped with diamonds worth $10,000.

Judge Erskine M. Ross, One Of Glendale's Pioneers, Will Retire From Circuit Bench

LOS ANGELES, March 17.—After forty-five years on the supreme bench of the state and federal courts, Judge Erskine M. Ross, 79, of the United States circuit court of appeals wants to retire and his application for resignation today was en route to President Coolidge.

Judge Erskine M. Ross is well known to pioneer residents of Glendale. In addition to his professional achievements, Judge Ross had a large part in the development of this part of the San Fernando valley. He was one of the first Americans to acquire a large tract of land in the valley.

GRAIN MARKET PANIC!

BULLS HIT BY SUDDEN DROP IN PRICES

Second Time Within Week Bottom Falls From Pits, Causing Big Losses

CHICAGO, March 17.—Panic-struck, the grain pits were today when, for the second time within a week, the bottom dropped out of the market, leaving traders gasping as they fought to execute orders.

An hour after the opening today May wheat had declined 11 cents to $1.54. Other grains also were sharply lower.

The crash in prices seemed to be the utter rout of bulls who had continued to maintain, in the face of recurrent breaks, that prices were too low for the world grain conditions.

The market continued weak all day and closed sharply lower.

Torn U. S. Currency Passed, When Pieced Together Established Right

SAN FRANCISCO, March 17.—The system by which captains of alleged rum-running vessels from Vancouver were able to identify small craft sent out from San Francisco and vicinity to unload liquor was revealed here today in government testimony brought out in the court of Federal Judge John S. Partridge, before whom the case of the asserted Canadian liquor smuggler Quadra is being tried.

Marked United States currency of different denominations would be torn in two, one group of halves being sent to Vancouver to be given captains of rum runners, and the other corresponding halves remaining in San Francisco.

When a small boat would put out from shore to unload liquor from a smuggling craft, its crew would have a number of torn currency bills. These portions would be matched by the corresponding pieces in possession of the rum-runner captain and by the agreement of the torn parts the desired identification would be established.

The government is expected to wind up its case against the Quadra this afternoon or tomorrow while defense counsel said they believed their part in the case could be finished late this week, at which time the fate of the indicted Quadra crew and directors of the Consolidated Exporters, Ltd., of Vancouver, owners of the ship, would go to the jury.

With his late uncle, Capt. C. E. Thom, he began great improvement and development. He owned a ranch of 1100 acres on North Verdugo road, now the exclusive Rossmore subdivision, Rossmore being the name of the home occupied by Judge Ross for many years.

In 1883 the Glendale hotel, later the Glendale Sanitarium, located on East Broadway, was built by Judge Ross, Capt. Thom and H. J. Crow. Judge Ross is a Virginian. He came to Los Angeles in 1865 to study law in the United States Of Europe Is Slovakia Plan

PARIS, March 17.—A "United States of Europe" was the proposal of Foreign Minister Benes of Czechoslovakia to Premier Herriot, L'Intransigeant stated today. Benes' plan would divide Europe into two groups, England, France, Belgium, Germany and Spain in the western group, and Poland, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Austria and the Balkan states in the eastern group, according to the newspaper.

FALL'S KIN ON STAND FOR OIL QUIZ

Son-in-Law of Ex-Secretary Of Interior Is Excused At Teapot Trial

CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 17.—After a few preliminary questions in the Teapot Dome trial today, M. T. Everhart, son-in-law of Secretary Fall, was excused by the court from answering questions regarding whether he had received any bonds from Fall in 1922. Everhart was released on the ground that his testimony might tend to incriminate him.

Everhart was declared by the government to have acted as messenger in carrying $250,000 in bonds that are believed to have passed between Harry F. Sinclair and Fall.

POISON DEATH BY MISTAKE, BELIEF

Sam Dreben, Noted Soldier Of Fortune, Serum Victim, Is Surgeon's Opinion

LOS ANGELES, March 17.—Sam Dreben, international soldier of fortune and known as the "Fighting Jew," came to his death here Sunday through the poisonous effects of some serum injected into his system by mistake, according to an opinion voiced today by County Surgeon A. G. Wagner, following an autopsy conducted to determine the cause of Dreben's death. Coroner Nance said an inquest would be held tomorrow.

In his report to the coroner Dr. Wagner declared he was unable to discover anything to indicate that Dreben's death resulted from natural causes, but had discovered evidence of the toxic remains of a serum, which had probably been given the former soldier by mistake.

The autopsy was ordered after Dr. Walter Brom halted the burial of the veteran by refusing to sign the death certificate. Funeral services had already been held and it was the burial that was halted.

Laguna Beach Girl Is Killed; Hit by Train

LAGUNA BEACH, Cal., March 17.—Pretty Mary Woods, 15 year old daughter of Dr. E. H. Woods, president of a local bank, is dead today, having been struck and killed last night by a 12-ton truck driven by Earl Pittman, a moment after she had stopped in a street to adjust her rolled-down silk stockings, Coroner C. D. Brown of Orange county, announced today. Deputy sheriffs who investigated the girl's death exonerated Pittman from blame.

PLOT TO KILL M'CLINTOCK CONFESSED

Scientist Admits Conspiracy With Shepherd In Death of Rich Orphan

BULLETIN
CHICAGO, March 17.—Indictment of William D. Shepherd before tonight—this was the announced intention of the state this afternoon as three chief witnesses went before the grand jury to read into its record the statements of Dr. C. C. Faiman, that William Nelson McClintock died from the effects of typhus germs administered to him in a glass of cold water by Shepherd, his foster-father.

CHICAGO, March 17.—A complete statement confessing that he and William D. Shepherd had conspired to kill William Nelson McClintock, "millionaire orphan," whose $1,500,000 estate Shepherd inherited, and divided his fortune, was made by Charles C. Faiman, head of the National University of Science, early today. The statement covered the amazing confession made earlier and repeated in the presence of Shepherd in the state's attorney's office, in which details of the alleged sinister plot to kill the youth by inoculation with typhoid germs were revealed.

In terms that shocked even the hardened prosecutors, inured to frank admissions of brutality, the suave bacteriologist declared he and Shepherd plotted a "scientific murder" which, he said, Shepherd assured him would never become known and which would "fix both" of them for the rest of their lives.

"I gave him three test tubes of typhoid bacilli in October, 1923," Faiman said. "After that we met from time to time to discuss the plan. We held many conferences in Loop hotels."

JAPAN BRINGS IMMIGRATION UP AGAIN

New Ambassador In Capital Says Question Is Not Settled Yet

By LLOYD LEHRBAS
For International News Service.
WASHINGTON, March 17.—Japan does not consider that the immigration question has been definitely and finally settled. Tsuno Matsuaira, the new ambassador, said today, and while he now has no specific instructions to take up the issue with the state department such action can be expected some time in the future.

"It must be remembered," Ambassador Matsuaira said, "that while the Congress has definitely stated its attitude, the Japanese government does not feel that the question has been settled satisfactorily."

At the present time, however, I have no special instructions to raise the question again."

Johnson, manager of the Pantages theatre here, in an effort to seize the week-end box office receipts.

VICTIM OF ACID-THROWING TELLS STORY

LOS ANGELES, March 17.—Swathed in bandages which concealed the greater portion of his countenance, Darby L. Day, Jr., scion of a wealthy Chicago family, groped his way into the county grand jury room here today and related his version of an alleged acid attack, declared to have been made upon him several weeks ago by his girl bride, Mrs. Bernice Day, who is then said to have attempted suicide, as the climax of their brief matrimonial career.

SARGENT IS SILENT ON NOMINATION

MONTPELIER, Vermont, March 17.—John Garibaldi Sargent, nominated attorney-general by President Coolidge, received the news of his nomination this afternoon while in the office of his friend, Fred A. Howard, president of a life insurance company here.

"Really, I have nothing to say," said Sargent. "I cannot talk for publication."

Letters Tell of Coolidge's Offer, Warren's Refusal

Michigan Man Is Willing To Give Up Fight For Good Of Republican Party

WASHINGTON, March 17.—President Coolidge's offer to give Charles B. Warren of Michigan a recess appointment as attorney-general in defiance of the Senate which twice rejected him, and Warren's decision not to accept it, were portrayed today in letters between the president and Mr. Warren.

The correspondence was made public at the White House shortly after noon.

Coolidge to Warren

The president's letter to Warren: "My dear Warren—As already indicated to me, in case there is a vacancy in the office of attorney-general after the adjournment of the Senate, I shall offer you a recess appointment to that office. This offer is made in the first place as a testimony to the unshaken confidence which I have in you, and in the second place, because I believe you are qualified to conduct that office for the public welfare."

"I wish to express my regret that any action of mine should have brought you into a political controversy. My regret is all the more keen because you made patriotic response at a great deal of personal sacrifice, when I sought you out, without any action on your part, and asked you again to enter the public service of your country in which on several previous occasions you had already attained to great eminence. This disappointment is only modified by the fact that from those who have refused confirmation come the strongest assertions that they would gladly approve you for any other position of trust and responsibility."

"With kindest regards and deepest appreciation, I am, 'Very truly yours,'

"CALVIN COOLIDGE."

Warren to Coolidge

Warren's letter to the president: "Dear Mr. President—Your confidence in me was deeply appreciated when you evidenced it by tendering me so important a place in your cabinet. I am again indebted to you for your renewed expression of confidence in your note of March 16, proposing to tender me a recess appointment as attorney-general."

"I shall always like to remember that the political controversy which has arisen concerning this position has not in the least affected your faith in me, and I have been appraised that those who know me fully share in your belief."

"Had I not known that I could serve you and the government with all my power, whatever it may be, I naturally would not have accepted your offer of the position."

"But I am not willing to prolong a political controversy that might lessen your opportunities for full usefulness to the nation, and possibly interfere with your making wholly effective your policies."

"I cannot therefore, in fairness to you and the Republican party, refrain from declining your offer of a recess appointment and I hope that you will make another nomination for confirmation."

"I am, my dear Mr. President, 'Faithfully yours,'

"CHARLES B. WARREN."

CONFIRMATION UNANIMOUS IN SENATE BALLOTING

President's Friend of Long Standing Approved for Attorney-General

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Moving with unusual speed the Senate late this afternoon unanimously confirmed the appointment of John Garibaldi Sargent of Vermont, to be attorney-general.

The Senate broke all records in approving the nomination after twice rejecting President Coolidge's original selection of Charles Beecher Warren of Michigan.

The nomination of Sargent was made, referred to the judiciary committee, reported out favorably and then confirmed in open session without a dissenting vote—all in less than five hours.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—President Coolidge today named John G. Sargent, ex-attorney-general of his native state of Vermont, to be attorney-general in his cabinet.

The selection fell upon Sargent within a few hours after Charles B. Warren of Michigan, twice rejected by the Senate, had informed the president he did not desire a recess appointment, which President Coolidge had offered him.

After Warren had told Mr. Coolidge he did not wish to accept a recess appointment under conditions which could only prove embarrassing to them both, Sargent was reached by long-distance telephone at his home in Vermont and agreed to accept the post. President Coolidge sent the nomination to the Senate shortly afterward.

The new nominee for attorney-general is an old-time friend of the president. He is 65 years old and but little known to the country at large, although he enjoys a wide reputation in New England legal circles.

President Coolidge abandoned his fight for Warren with great reluctance and only in the face of senatorial opposition to the Detroit man that was unflinching and unyielding.

The reaction in the Senate to Sargent's nomination was immediately favorable, and it was evident that there was general satisfaction all around that the history-making controversy over Warren was at last at an end.

See Favorable Action
Senators Reed, Democrat, of Missouri, and Borah, Republican, of Idaho, two of the leaders in the fight against Warren, immediately declared that they knew nothing detrimental to Sargent, and they anticipated no difficulties in his confirmation.

The nomination was formally referred to the judiciary committee within a few minutes after it was received. Under the rules it must lay over until tomorrow, and then it will be voted upon.

Under this program, the judiciary committee will meet and report out the nomination, it will be passed tomorrow, and the speaker will be at last at an end.

FORMER MISS TAFT 'BORN' TEACHER

Daughter of Chief Justice Takes College Deanship At Bryn Mawr

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925
WASHINGTON, March 17.—Dean of an important college and head of a very new family is the dual role to be assumed in the fall by Mrs. Helen Taft Manning, daughter of the chief justice of the United States supreme court. It is an undertaking not without its difficulties, but here in Washington where the daughter of the former president spent most of her girlhood, there is a general feeling that Mrs. Manning will prove more than equal to the test.

It is a decided step forward, this calling of a young mother with a husband and two small children in her household, to the deanship of a college for the education and training of young women. It combines all of the elements of practicality with the theories and principles of education.

Most of Mrs. Manning's friends in Washington had thought that her educational days had ended with her marriage, but she has returned to the work because it is the natural thing for her to do. The former Miss Taft was born in what might be called a pedagogic atmosphere. It was natural she should be a teacher. Her mother was a teacher before her marriage to William Howard Taft, at the time a budding young lawyer of Cincinnati. Shortly after the wedding Mr. Taft became professor and dean of the law department of the University of Cincinnati, a post he occupied for four years. When retiring from the presidency Mr. Taft again turned to college work, becoming Kent professor of law at Yale. Mrs. Helen Taft Manning's uncle, Horace Taft, also is an educator, being head master of the Taft school for boys at Watertown, Conn.

Born to Teach
Certainly if there is anything in consanguinity, Helen Taft was born to be a teacher and her return to Bryn Mawr next fall is a natural step in her life work. It was natural, too, that she should have married a teacher. She herself has specialized in modern history in her school work. Her husband, Frederick J. Manning, also has specialized in history and is to be assistant professor of that course at Swarthmore, but a short distance from Bryn Mawr college.

Helen Taft is remembered in Washington as a very thoughtful and studious girl. She cared more for her books than for the gayeties of Washington social life even during her father's term in the White House—days which would have meant to a girl of different temperament a never-ending succession of parties and attention.

An graduate of the national cathedral school of this city, of the Baldwin school at Bryn Mawr, Mrs. Manning took her A. B. degree at Bryn Mawr college in 1915. Two years later she received her master of arts from Yale university.

While she was still Miss Taft and only 26 years of age, the daughter of the former president, was first named dean of Bryn Mawr. She is returning to the post now in her 34th year, the mother of two girls, one a little over three years, and the other less than two months.

Mrs. Manning is not the type of professional feminist. She does not believe that women should vote or organize themselves into a separate party. "They ought to work through some chosen political machinery," she says. "When elected to office, however," she adds, "we should insist upon serving side by side with the men, and not allow ourselves to be shoved off into separate committees merely for the purpose of blowing off steam."

SHIP WILL BE FACTORY ON HIGH SEA

DuPont Powder Concern To Take Vessel To Raw Material In Water

By J. C. ROYLE
WILMINGTON, Del., Mar. 17.—

An entirely new development in the industrial world has been brought about by the E. I. DuPont de Nemours Co. The executives of this great concern may have found nothing new under the sun, but they have discovered something new under the water. They have just purchased a new factory and, instead of bringing the raw materials to the plant, they have taken the plant to the raw materials.

The Dupont concern has just acquired from the United States shipping board the steamer Lake Harminia and, it became known today, will use the vessel as a floating manufacturing plant for the extraction of chemicals from the sea water. The use of a vessel for such manufacturing purposes has no precedent in business and industrial history, if exception be made to the trying out of blubber on board a whaler.

Every schoolboy knows that many chemicals are present in sea water, carried by fresh-water streams that have absorbed them from the earth and rocks over which they flow. They may be recovered in any territory, but the Duponts have been attempting to discover whether they may be recovered in sufficient quantities and cheaply enough to be commercially profitable.

Purely Commercial
The company has already performed many such experiments at a plant located on the New Jersey coast, but they determined, instead of piping the water to land laboratories, which was sure to be expensive, they would take the laboratories and factory to the deep sea. The equipment to be installed in the Lake Harminia will be virtually the same as if the plant were located on land. The point is that the details of the products to be made and the methods employed are being kept a close secret by the Dupont interests.

These interests have always been progressive and enterprising adventurers into new fields. In time of peace the great munition works hum no less actively than in time of war, although the products turned out are of a peaceful character. Since 1918 special attention has been paid to the production of chemicals. Remarkable progress has been made in the manufacture of coal tar products, dyes and artificial silk. They hope that this new venture will yield equally valuable results. They decline, as a matter of business, to make known details of their work.

War 'Baby'

It is understood that the Lake Harminia was purchased for about $35,000, and it is not likely that a site and factory could have been secured in an advantageous spot for anything like that sum. The vessel is now docked at the Harlan shipyards at Wilmington to be reconstructed and put into first-class shape to stay at sea for long periods. The vessel was built as one of a fleet turned out on the Great Lakes during the war, but was never put into the government service. She is an oil burner of 4000 tons and 290 feet long. For many months she has been laid up with scores of other government vessels at Hog Island, Philadelphia.

Industrial chemicals are moving into consumers' hands in great quantities and manufacturers' order books are filled to capacity for the next three months. Factories are being speeded up, and the price trend is upward. In some important departments, manufacturers are sold up to capacity for a season. In addition, there is every indication that the heavy-consuming interests, such as leather, fertilizer and textile trades, will have a big year. These conditions undoubtedly have had their influence in determining the Dupont Co. to undertake its new venture.

Unconscious Sin

"Possibly there are very few of us who are conscious of living in actual sin, but we manifest an unwillingness to let God lift us up and place us on a higher and more enduring plane. The secret of high living is found in this text, 'Search me, O God, and know my heart; try me and know my thoughts; and see if there be any wicked way in me, and lead me in the way of everlasting life.' Day by day, let us accept the light, believe in the light, and by His grace, walk in the light, and the blood of Jesus Christ, God's son, cleanse us from all sin."

"And see if there be any wicked way in me." This expression has really three meanings: (1) any way of pain, (2) any idols, and (3) any false way. God wants to test us until He takes out of us things that hurt us. Certain tests locate the seat or source of pain. So God, by this searching, would locate in us any spiritual ill—any source of weakness.

"Any idols—'Thou shalt have no other gods—or idols—before Me.' We are apt to think of an idol as a bad thing, but some of the best things in the world are

ANSWER TO CHART GIVEN BY PASTOR

Elder R. Parmela Describes Belief of Adventists On Certain Things

At the Seventh-Day Adventist church Sunday night Elder R. W. Parmela, the pastor, announced that a chart had been distributed, in Glendale, entitled "The Spirit of Truth and the Spirit of Error," which places the Seventh-Day Adventists in the column of error along with Christian Science, Spiritualism, Russellism, Theosophy, Mormonism and Modern Theology.

"With all respect to the honorable gentlemen, who doubtless thought they were rendering a service to honest seekers after truth by the preparation and distribution of this sheet," Mr. Parmela said, "I feel that in the interests of accuracy and 'the spirit of truth,' I should give it some attention. I do this because a great many people will not take the time to analyze the chart, but will be content with regarding all in error who are placed in the error column."

"In the column of truth, only texts of scripture are given. On the first page the 'Godhead,' 'Jesus Christ,' and the 'Holy Spirit' are represented, with appropriate texts to show God's personality, Christ and His Son, and the personality of the Holy Spirit. In the Adventist column, opposite these are the following statements of our belief, 'Personality of God and Trinity of the Godhead,' 'Divine Sonship of Christ,' 'Divinity and Personality of the Spirit,' but as an excuse, evidently, for putting us in the column of error on this page, since we cannot be convicted of error on any of these, the following statement is made concerning Christ, which the writer professes to quote from our standard writings: 'Christ returned in 1844, not to the earth, but to the Sanctuary somewhere in heaven.'"

Reference Cited

"Upon this point I read from 'The Great Controversy between Christ and Satan,' (which I will hereafter refer to, simply as 'G. C.') a work of the highest authority among us, on page 430 as follows: 'Jesus at his ascension, entered by his own blood into the heavenly sanctuary.' At his ascension, it is in 1844."

"Then they further state, 'He is engaged in examining the sins committed by his people.' Upon this point, we read in G. C. page 429, as to what happened in 1844. 'When in the typical service (of ancient Israel) the high priest left the holy (place of the sanctuary), on the day of atonement, he went in before God to present the blood of all Israel who truly repented of their sins. So Christ had only completed one part of his work as our intercessor, to enter upon another portion of the work, and He still pleads His blood before the Father in behalf of sinners.' The misapprehension is clear, but it became necessary as an excuse for putting us in the error column."

More Reference

"On the reverse page, 'Sin,' 'Atonement,' 'Salvation,' and 'Retribution,' are treated. The first text cited under 'Truth' is 'Sin is the transgression of the law, 1 John 3:4,' and all of the other texts are cited to define sin, but in the Adventist column no Adventist definition of sin is attempted, but rather its final disposition is given. It was necessary here to dodge the issue, for if our position on what sin is were exact, it would be found to be in exact accord with their first text, and would convict even the writer of the chart of error, for sin is the

T. H. ADDISON IS PIONEER BUILDER

Came To Glendale In 1907; Has Seen City Expand From Small Village

Thomas H. Addison, with offices at 130 South Cedar street, is one of Glendale's pioneer carpenters and builders. Coming here from Boston in 1907, Mr. Addison has seen Glendale grow from a small village to a city of substantial size. Five and six-story business blocks now occupy the ground which but a few years ago was given over to farm lands, chicken ranches and vacant spaces.

Mr. Addison states that he has spent his whole life in the carpenter business, taking whatever work came along, whether it was the erection of a business block, a residence or merely a small repair job. Many of Glendale's business blocks and fine homes bear testimony to the craftsmanship of Mr. Addison. Some of the larger structures are the Methodist church, Wilson Intermediate school, the public library, the branch library building in the northwest section, the fire station on Broadway. He has constructed scores of buildings in Hollywood, Pasadena, Eagle Rock, San Pedro and Los Angeles.

transgression of the law, and that law says 'the seventh day,' not the first, which he keeps, 'is the Sabbath of the Lord.'"

"Then the writer further says 'Sinners will be damned and punished with the devil for 1,000 years and then annihilated.' This is absolutely not our position. Here it is, as stated in G. C. 657. 'At the coming of Christ, the wicked are blotted from the face of the whole earth, consumed with the spirit of his mouth, and destroyed with the brightness of his coming.' Time will not permit of a further discussion of this matter, but this is sufficient to show that we have been wrongly judged."

Adventist Stand

"Our position regarding the other three, 'Atonement,' 'Salvation,' and 'Retribution,' is also misrepresented, as the following references to our 'Standard Writings' will show: Steps to Christ, pages 52 and 53, G. C. page 422, Patriarchs and Prophets, page 365, G. C. 604 and 605. We believe that Christ has made atonement for us, but that the sins, though forgiven the sinner, will be visited upon the instigator of sin—the devil. We believe the law of Moses was abolished, but we as strongly believe that the law of ten commandments are as binding today as in the day when God engraved them with his own finger on stone."

"We believe that there are many honest children of God who still observe the first day of the week, believing it to be their duty, but that 'With the issue clearly set before them, whoever shall trample upon God's law to obey a human enactment, (a Sunday law, enforced) receives the mark of the beast.'—G. C., Pg. 604."

'SIN' IS TAKEN AS SUNDAY SERMON

'Way Everlasting' Is Way of Faith, Rev. Edmonds Tells Listeners

Following a fine musical program of worship on Sunday morning Rev. Edmonds of the Glendale Presbyterian church spoke from the text found in Psalm 133, verses 23 and 24: "Search me, O God, and know my heart; try me and know my thoughts; and see if there be any wicked way in me, and lead me in the way everlasting." He said:

"Here is God's great searchlight shining from above with ineffable light, revealing the depths of every human heart. In all literature there is nothing more sublime than this Psalm. David begins: 'O Lord, Thou hast searched me and known me. Thou knowest my downsitting and my uprising. Thou understandest my thought afar off.' He speaks of his own hatred of God's enemies—speaking with passionate heat that presently cools—then he opens his own heart to God and cries out, 'Search me, O God, and know my heart; try me and know my thoughts; and see if there be any wicked way in me, and lead me in the way everlasting.'"

"The true heart does not shrink from this light, but invites it. Shall we, therefore, go into the full rays of this great searchlight and open every chamber and channel of our being to its penetrating blaze until every shadow flee away and we 'walk in the light, even as He is in the light'?"

Unconscious Sin

"Possibly there are very few of us who are conscious of living in actual sin, but we manifest an unwillingness to let God lift us up and place us on a higher and more enduring plane. The secret of high living is found in this text, 'Search me, O God, and know my heart; try me and know my thoughts; and see if there be any wicked way in me, and lead me in the way everlasting.' Day by day, let us accept the light, believe in the light, and by His grace, walk in the light, and the blood of Jesus Christ, God's son, cleanse us from all sin."

"And see if there be any wicked way in me." This expression has really three meanings: (1) any way of pain, (2) any idols, and (3) any false way. God wants to test us until He takes out of us things that hurt us. Certain tests locate the seat or source of pain. So God, by this searching, would locate in us any spiritual ill—any source of weakness.

"Any idols—'Thou shalt have no other gods—or idols—before Me.' We are apt to think of an idol as a bad thing, but some of the best things in the world are idols to some. Even a loved one may be loved more dearly than God.

"Then—see 'if there be any false way' in me. There is much that is false in our hearts and our lives. We need to pray continually to be delivered from every false and changeable thing and spirit. God wants us to live the fixed and stable life, not like the 'waves of the sea,' driven by every false wind of doctrine. May God keep us true."

"The climax in the prayer is found in the words, 'Lead me in the way everlasting.' The 'way everlasting' is the way of holiness. Holiness is not something we put on today and put off tomorrow; it is permanent and is an outgrowth of New Birth. The everlasting way of holiness is God's plan for the believer."

'Way Everlasting'

"The 'way everlasting' is the way of love. Love based on merit and attraction will come and go as the seasons. Not so with the love begotten by Him in the heart. Then joy will be everlasting. Joy which arises from circumstances will ebb and flow like the tides, but the 'Joy of the Lord' is constant and everlasting. "If we yield to the searching, constancy and growth and development will be manifest in us, and your work will be everlasting. Some kinds of work are but like a scaffolding, to be torn down and cast aside—other is like wood, hay, stubble. Any work or service merely done for the sake of popularity or power, or for self, will be but transient and will leave us amid its ruins, disappointed and uncrowned; but work done in the name of Christ and from supreme love to God will never fail. Such service is everlasting."

University Committee Holds Meeting At C. C.

The Glendale committee for furthering the popularity of the Burbank university site met at the Glendale Chamber of Commerce last night, George Lyons, chairman of the committee, presiding. No information concerning actions taken at the meeting was given out, although it was stated the committee will continue to work quietly in favor of the Burbank site until the meeting of the board of regents of the University of California on March 21.

MRS. C. H. TOLL HONORED AT MEETING

Glendalians End Regime As President of L. A.
Club District

Marking the close of the regime of Mrs. Charles H. Toll of Glendale, as president of Los Angeles District, California Federation of Women's clubs, and heralding the twenty-fourth annual convention of the district next month at Santa Barbara, the sixth and final presidents' council of the district for the present club year was held yesterday at Pasadena Shakespear club. There were approximately 1000 club women present from five counties—Los Angeles, Inyo, Santa Barbara, Ventura and San Luis Obispo.

Mrs. Toll was accorded high honors, for her administration is conceded by state and national club leaders as the most efficient regime of the Los Angeles district.

Glendale in Lead
Glendale received special mention yesterday when Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, headed the list of presidents with 100 per cent attendance at the six presidents' councils of the year. There were thirty-one honored presidents. One-minute reports from these presidents were given about the luncheon tables. During the luncheon hour there were songs with popular airs, the words having been written by Mrs. Toll.

Great interest was expressed on every hand in the election at the convention next month.

Tentative Ticket

The tentative ticket is as follows: Mrs. J. B. Lorbeer of Santa Monica, for president; Mrs. W. W. Slayden of Highland Park, for vice-president; Mrs. John S. Thayer, Mrs. John Rowland Dudley and Mrs. Charles Hummer, for recording secretary; Mrs. Howard Sherwood of Monterey Park, for treasurer; Mrs. Daniel J. Baptiste of Somis, for auditor.

The distinguished guest of honor was Mrs. Aaron Schloss of Oakland, director for California in the general federation. She reported on activities at general federation headquarters in Washington, D. C., where she attended the annual board meeting in February.

At the close of the session Mrs. Toll was honored with gifts of flowers from the hostess club, and a memorial redwood card.

Tuesday Afternoon clubwomen attending the council were: Mesdames A. H. Montgomery, John Robert White, Jr., H. E. Bartlett, Mabel Franklin Ocker, A. A. Barton, F. H. Wallace, Homer D. Lockwood, S. C. Packer and Daniel Campbell. The Parliamentary Law club of Glendale sent as representatives: Mesdames Harry Greenwalt, H. H. Harris, Hugh Maron, Stephenson, Munn, Ross,

ATWATER RESIDENTS DISCUSS NEW SCHOOL

Plea for New Building In North Part
Of District Tabled at Meeting
Of Improvement Association

After heated discussion a resolution that the Atwater Community Improvement association pledge itself to assist residents of the north side of the Atwater tract to secure a new grammar school in their district was finally tabled at the meeting of the association at the Atwater Baptist church last night.

Advocates of a new school site north of Glendale boulevard were led by Clayton S. Decker. Forces of the opposition were headed by J. J. Wray, A. B. Holcombe, Secretary P. E. Lipscomb and others. They pointed out that any attempt to have present plans for an addition at the Atwater avenue school changed would result in no relief being given the crowded school conditions for a period of several years. They declared that present plans contemplate completion of an addition at the Atwater school sufficiently large to care for all pupils of the district and that this addition will be ready for occupancy by next September.

Mr. Decker argued that a portion of the school money should be spent north of Glendale boulevard, where over half of the students now reside. A resolution pledging support of the improvement association to the north side residents in securing a new school was tabled for thirty days, at the end of the discussion.

Discuss Light Standards

Another wrangle marked the meeting of the Atwater Improvement body last night, when R. A. Lind, representative of the California Street Lighting Sales Co., hurled numerous charges at Secretary Lipscomb and other officers of the body, charging them with overstepping their authority in endorsing petitions on street lighting now in circulation. These petitions call upon the Los Angeles Art commission to disregard applications for pressed metal light standards that have already been made so that a second application for concrete standards can be filed. The street lighting company is agent for the pressed steel standards.

Officers of the improvement association replied to the charges, declaring that endorsement of the protest petitions and of the concrete standards came from the association as a whole and from residents who are directly affected in the matter. They stated today that notwithstanding objections of the pressed metal agents, the improvement association will continue its efforts in behalf of Marbelite.

Want Crossings Changed

The Atwater Improvement association will seek to cooperate with Glendale and Los Angeles in an effort to have grade crossings of the Southern Pacific eliminated in the near future. This was decided at the meeting of the association last night, when a resolution addressed to the State Railroad commission and calling attention to the hazardous condition that exists at Glendale boulevard and the Southern Pacific tracks was drawn up. Copies of this resolution will be forwarded to the Glendale Chamber of commerce and City Planning commission and to civic bodies in Los Angeles with an accompanying letter pledging the support of the association in getting the tracks lowered.

O. J. Renfrew Speaks

O. J. Renfrew, secretary of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Fernando valley, was the principal speaker at the Atwater Park community meeting last night. He discussed the truck showing maps of the proposed route around the new municipal aviation field and in other localities. Mr. Renfrew asked wholehearted support and cooperation between cities of the valley in the matter of extending highways.

Child Hurt In Crash

The three-year-old daughter of Mrs. Fred Sauter, 417 East Windsor road, Verdugo City, was painfully cut about the head when the automobile driven by Mrs. Sauter was struck by a car driven by Jack Wolfe, driver for the Calla Lilly creamery, late yesterday afternoon. The accident occurred at the intersection of Atwater avenue on Glendale boulevard, Atwater Park.

Accompanying Mrs. Sauter were Mrs. T. J. Foster and Mrs. Joel Foster, both of 291 Manhattan place, Verdugo City. The injured child was rushed to the office of Dr. Farnum on Central avenue, where her injuries were found to be not serious.

According to Mr. Wolfe, who gave his address as 2746 Rosana street, his steering apparatus failed to function and he drove directly into the other car. Both machines were badly smashed.

CONTINENTAL AERIAL WAY PLANNED

Bob Hausler In Conference With Dr. T. C. Young On Landing Fields

Glendale as the southwest terminus of a transcontinental air route loomed as a possibility today, following a conference between Dr. T. C. Young and Bob Hausler, representing aviation interests of Arizona and New Mexico. Mr. Hausler is in Southern California at the present time attempting to charter sufficient landing fields to establish an air line between the two neighboring states and Los Angeles. He will join forces with the committee appointed in Glendale Saturday night in effecting the formation of a Southwestern Aeronautical association. Mr. Hausler will act with this committee in the capacity of consulting engineer and field inspector.

After several years of work, Mr. Hausler, operating through the Winslow Commercial club of Navajo county, Arizona, has effected the establishment of sufficient fields in Arizona and New Mexico for a permanent aerial highway that will connect up with other links penetrating as far as the eastern coast of the United States. Arrangements to have the Glendale Airport made the official terminus for Los Angeles territory over this route will be made by local persons interested in aviation, Dr. Young said. A two-day aviation meet, similar to that staged in Glendale last Saturday and Sunday will take place at Albuquerque on May 16 and 17 at the time of the formal opening of the Tri-State Airway that will form a part of the proposed transcontinental air route.

Radio Fans Report On C. of C. Program

Forty-six replies from radio all over Southern California to an invitation of Bert Woodard Saturday night to write to the Chamber of Commerce for a free Glendale souvenir were received at the chamber offices this morning. Many communications from points outside the state are expected in the mail later today and tomorrow. The last radio program brought over 200 replies to the Chamber of Commerce, many of them from persons living east of the Rocky mountains.

YOUTH DOES NOT NEED—

Much more liberty but a great deal more stability.
To demand freedom when it shows its ability to handle it.
Hasty criticism as badly as patient instruction.
More exciting entertainment but more thrilling examples of character.
More opportunity for self-expression but more guidance in self-mastery.
More knowledge of sex but more love for chastity and modesty.
To poke through the gutters to see life.

REAL SERVICE

A speaker told a Glendale audience recently that the happiest man is the one who is doing the most for others, and he advised his hearers to go and try it if they didn't believe it. There is no question but this man is right. Unselfishness is one of the most satisfactory of virtues and it is worthy of cultivation. But sometimes it is difficult to draw the line between real service and the self-sacrificial kind that does the recipient more harm than good. And again it is hard to refrain from being officious and meddling when trying to find happiness via the service-to-others route.

Robert Louis Stevenson said, "So long as we love, we serve," and it would seem that any service rendered others must have love for its incentive to be of any value.

The attitude to be assumed by one who has done a service for another is clearly stated by Marcus Aurelius, when he says he "does not even know what he has done, but he is like a vine which has produced grapes, and seeks for nothing more after it has once produced its proper fruit. * * * A man when he has done a good act does not call out for others to come and see, but he goes on to another act, as a vine goes on to produce grapes again. What more dost thou want when thou hast done a man a service? Art thou not content that thou hast done something comfortable to thy nature, and dost thou seek to be paid for it, just as if the eye demanded a recompense for seeing, or the feet should demand a recompense for walking?"

Doing good to others is sure to bring happiness, but deliberately seeking happiness by trying to do good to others is not likely to be successful. Someone says that happiness, if made the object of pursuit, leads us a wild goose chase and is never attained.

EQUAL RIGHTS

If the National Woman's party is successful in its fight for an amendment to the constitution that would put the rights of woman on the same basis as that of man it will wipe out with one fell sweep the work of those who have labored for years for laws beneficial to women. The fact is that women now enjoy, under the law, many rights and privileges not accorded to men, and such a law would automatically annul all such benefits, many of which have been won by women after the most strenuous efforts.

Under the proposed amendment the widows' pension law, which now is being enforced by forty-two states, would be wiped out. This law clearly sets forth the inequality between men and women; it is the outgrowth of the inability of a woman to properly foster and finance her family when her husband has been taken away from her. The reason of her being a mother incapacitates her for equality with man as a wage-earner.

There are many other laws regarding the employment of women which have taken years and endless energy to procure, all of which would be annulled by such a measure as the one proposed by the Women's party.

Women have been making genuine progress as citizens, and while there are some laws regarding property rights and the protection of children which are unjust to women, these matters should be taken up separately. Too great a zeal on the part of certain women in their effort to establish the equality of the sexes may result in still greater injustice to those they wish to serve.

INEXCUSABLE WASTE

Now that economy is the watchword and the people know there is a possibility of having abolished some expensive customs of long standing in government affairs they are quick to point out to the president ways in which saving can be accomplished. One woman writes to Washington to ask why the electoral vote cannot be sent to Washington by United States mail at a cost of less than a dollar, saving the needless expense of 25 cents a mile for the electoral messengers. The law providing for 25 cents a mile for messengers was passed in 1791, the year the postoffice department was established. Mail was then carried by stagecoach and on horseback and there were many delays which increased the expenses of messengers. There is no more excuse for the appropriation of $14,000 for the service of carrying the result of the electoral vote to Washington than there is for carrying mail by stagecoach and horseback.

In the last Congress a member of the House offered an amendment to the emergency deficiency bill to strike out the $14,000 appropriation to pay the expenses of the electoral messengers at 25 cents a mile between their homes and Washington. The chairman of the committee on appropriations raised a point of order, which was sustained, and the government paid $14,000 for a service that could have been rendered for 96 cents.

If the people of the country clung to old customs and traditions as tenaciously as do the agencies of government we would not be considered a very progressive people.

ADVERTISING RESULTS

The citrus market is in splendid condition. Growers who were forced to resort to orchard heating time and again during the past winter are now getting splendid prices for their fruit and the small loss from freezing has amply repaid them for their vigilance during the freezing weather.

It is said that the high prices being received for citrus fruits are not due entirely to the shortage of the crop or to improved conditions in the east, but to the increased use of the orange and the lemon.

Part of the development of the orange market comes as a result of the unsatisfactory condition which existed last year, compelling the selling agencies to look over the field more carefully and renew their efforts to improve the market.

This year for the first time the Woolworth stores all over the country are selling California oranges. The use of oranges for punch and other drinks is consuming larger quantities of the fruit. An educational campaign has been introduced to teach the beneficial results of the use of citrus fruit and advertising has been pursued on a large scale. Convince the people that they need any article and there will be no such thing as over-production.

Platitudes

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Platitudes are inevitable because generations of men go on repeating themselves.

The world, in one respect, is like a wheel that goes round and round. Some say it is progress. In our search for new truth we must remember that old truths are new to new people.

Somebody asked an actor how he could keep springing the old gags. He replied: "The jokes are old, but the people are new."

The underlying truths in every philosophy are the same. I think it is Ed Howe who has selected the principal teachings of Buddha, Confucius, Jesus, Mahomet and others and found that they are substantially identical.

The fact is that when you think on life long enough you find that there are certain fundamental truths, and if you think right you are going to reach them, and not new ones.

The man who really benefits his fellow men is the one who clothes the old truths in new dress so that they are understood by his contemporaries.

If a man would take the truths of Schopenhauer and Mencius and Socrates and put them in the language of his day and make them so that the people around him would understand them and be interested, he would be doing a great service. He would be doing much more good than if he attempted to originate something himself.

There are only a few fundamental ideas in the world and they were discovered long ago. There are a few fundamental rules of health, of conduct and of morals. All we can do is to come to them in a new way.

With all the creative imagination in the world we are unable to find satisfactory substitute for "Jack and the Beanstalk" and "Little Red Riding Hood." Those old stories and folk tales seem to stand as solid as the rock of Gibraltar. The point is that they are new to every generation. They may be old to us, but they are fresh to our children and they want to hear them.

Another thing is that people give more welcome to an idea they are slightly familiar with than to one that strikes them as entirely novel. We often complain of the sameness of the acts in the vaudeville. Yet those acts are understood by the audience simply because they are familiar with them. They do not have to think, or otherwise exert themselves in order to understand them.

The worst thing about a platitude is that it is told in a platitudinous way. It is the method we object to and not the substance.

The gibes and sneers and gripes of the Menckens-Nathan school are just as old as the uplift of the Pollyanna school. Simply because a man is finding fault does not prove that he is original. Fault finding is the oldest business in the world. Copyright 1923, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

Horoscope

Although Neptune is in benefic aspect early today, the rule is threatening, according to astrology, for Uranus, the Sun and Saturn are all strongly adverse. Much foolish misinformation may affect the public mind at this time, for the aspects encourage misrepresentation. Deceit and intrigue are supposed to flourish while this configuration prevails.

The mind may be peculiarly sensitive to impressions of every sort. This is not a fortunate sway for the president of the United States who probably will be misunderstood because of policies that are the result of high ideals. Saturn appears to presage unrest among the workers and much unemployment in certain parts of the country.

Envy is supposed to be prevalent under this rule which inspires malice and may cause the broad-casting of propaganda that is intended to do damage. Libel will be prevalent in cities where local politics will probably take on an unusually bitter tinge.

Many new fads and eccentricities which are to mark the coming summer will be worn. Vanity and selfishness are held to be increased by the direction of the stars which has a strong influence upon the young. Foreign trade and travel should begin to show the increase which his to mark the summer. According to the stars a determined striving for honors will be apparent among men and women of wealth and leisure.

Today's Poem

DISDAIN RETURNED

He that loves a rosy cheek,
Or a coral lip admires,
Or from star-like eyes doth seek Fuel to maintain his fires,—
As old Time makes these decay,
So his flames must waste away.

But a smooth and steadfast mind,
Gentle thoughts and calm desires,
Hearts with equal love combined,
Kindle never-dying fires.

Where these are not, I despise Widely cheeks or lips, or eyes.

No tears, Celia, now shall win
My resolved heart to return;
I have search'd thy soul within,
And find naught but pride and scorn;

I have learned thy arts, and now
Can disdain as much as thou
Some power, in my revenge, can Convey
That love to her I cast away.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

Dr. J. Arthur Thomson observes that the most familiar imperfection of mankind is growing old.

Growing old is the almost universal disease which Huxley used to call "A nno Domini."

There are illustrious exceptions whom the gods love, who die young full of years; they are what biologists call the progressive pioneer variants pointing to what one day may be a normal racial character. And of course there are those who do not grow old because they are carried off in their prime or in their youth by some accident or other, including a mosquito bite as well as an explosion, poisonous food as well as shipwreck.

But apart from these exceptions most of us grow old, and it is amazingly inconvenient, especially when we grow old too soon. The human spirit rebels against it. Consequently we have civilized people ardently believing in the efficacy of monkey-gland operations and such quackeries.

"Growing old," Stevenson said to a friend, "that is a heresy to be fought against."

But how far can it be fought against?

"There are good reasons for believing that for most of the simplest animals there is no natural death," says J. Arthur Thomson. "They may be killed, but they do not DIE. They have no complex 'body' to keep up; they are able to meet their wear and tear by perfect recuperation; they grow young as fast as they grow old; and their way of multiplying by dividing is so inexpensive physiologically that immortality is not panned for love. Barring accidents, they attain to bodily immortality."

"We are inclined to think that the same is true of some of the simple multicellular animals with bodies, such as the fresh-water Hydra or the little living film called Planaria. It may be that they also have kept hold of bodily immortality."

It seems that aging is the tax on a body worth having. For a fine body means division of labor and complex "works"; it means laboratory furnishings as well as plenty of chemicals; it means not only the flowing river but the beds of sand and gravel which the stream lay down, which comes to play an important part in laying down its own course.

From studies like Professor Child's "Senescence and Rejuvenescence," it appears that what grows old is not the living matter, but the furnishings of the laboratory. Just because these are so stable, like the precipitates of the stream, they cannot be perfectly recuperated as regards their necessary wear and tear.

To repeat, it is not the living matter that grows old, it is the framework which it makes.

It is a biological axiom that the living creature is limited by the possibilities of its material.

"Theoretically, we can think of an immortal body," says Dr. Thomson, "but for practical purposes, the statement holds that in spite of many ingenious processes of rejuvenescences, often very drastic, the processes of senescence get the upper hand, and the creature has to grow old."

Who's Who

The new president pro tempore of the United States Senate is a man from Maine who represents New Hampshire in the upper house.

He was born in Lubec, in the most northerly east of the states, in 1869. His father was a Congregationalist minister. He married the same year he was graduated from Dartmouth college, in 1893.

For more than twenty years he was president of the Monitor & Statesman Co., publishers of Concord, N. H., filling in the same time many political offices. He was private secretary to the governor of New Hampshire from 1889 to 1891; secretary of the state forestry commission from 1893 to 1906, and at various times member of the board of education of Concord.

He was a delegate-at-large to the Republican convention of 1908. In 1909 he was named ambassador to Greece and Montenegro. This service ended in 1912. He was delegate-at-large again in 1916.

In 1918 he ran for an expired term in the Senate, and was re-elected in 1921.

FOUR HELD IN $50,000 GEM ROBBERY

Quartet of Men Arrested in Portland For Theft in L. A. March 11

PORTLAND, Ore., March 17.—Four youths, arrested on suspicion that they were implicated in a $50,000 jewel and automobile theft last March 11, in Los Angeles, were held today by Portland police on charges of grand larceny. They are: Harry Jacobs, 20, newspaper vendor; Jean Lavelle, 24, and Fred Barber, 22, news circulators, and Henry Phillips, alias Haddon, 23, a chauffeur.

The robbery of which they are suspected occurred when Maurice Redman, jewelry salesman, momentarily left his parked car in front of the B. Bastheim Wholesale Jewelry Co., 402 Title Guaranty building, in the Los Angeles downtown district.

Fact Determined When Redman returned, his automobile, containing a locked sample case of valuable jewelry, was missing. An automobile rented by Lavelle in Los Angeles, in which the quartet had driven to Portland, resulted in their apprehension.

The rental slip, showing $55 had been deposited, specifically stated the machine was not to be taken from Los Angeles county.

FLOOR PLANS FOR NEW 'Y' COMPLETE

Await Approval Of Directors Before Specifications On Building Made

Floor plans for the proposed Glendale Y. M. C. A. building, to be a four-story structure of class A construction, with ninety-one dormitory rooms, large gym and swimming pool, men's and boys' lockers and many other features, were turned over to the building committee headed by Frank L. Fox, today, R. L. Rayburn of the New York office of the international "Y" building bureau, brought the plans to Glendale. He conferred with Clarence L. Jay, Glendale architect, who will complete the plans and draw up specifications as soon as the floor layouts are O. K'd by the building committee and local "Y" directors.

According to the plans as now drawn, the men's lockers will front on Louise street, with another entrance along Wilson avenue for the younger boys. The building will be L-shaped, with provisions for building another wing in the future. Members of the building committee who will pass on the plans are Frank Fox, chairman; H. Park Arnold, J. A. Newton, W. F. Tower and H. L. Finlay.

Harvard Registration Shatters All Records

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 17.—All previous student registration records at Harvard university have been shattered. The annual Harvard catalogue announces a total registration this year of 7,075. This is an increase of 322 over last year. Over this number of students there are 1,088 instructors. While the figures loom big for Harvard she is far from the top of the largest registration lists in the country.

California tops the list with 15,580, with Columbia second boasting 11,621 students. Others in order are: Illinois, 10,089; Minnesota, 9,417; Michigan, 8,856; Ohio State, 8,757; Wisconsin, 7,643; Pennsylvania, 7,626, and then comes Harvard.

Yale, with 4,731 students enrolled, ranks No. 20.

'Oh, Doctor!'

Scene from "Oh, Doctor!" at the Glendale theatre. It's showing for the final time tonight. Reginald Denny has the lead.

Reginald Denny is down but not out in this characteristic scene from "Oh, Doctor!" the Saturday Evening Post serial showing today for the last time in picture form at the Glendale theatre. Harry Leon Wilson, clever author of "Bunker Bean" and "Ruggles of Red Gap," wrote the story. Mary Astor plays the leading feminine role, supported by a cast including Otis Harlan, William Mong, Tom Ricketts, Lucille Ward, Mike Donlin, Clarence Geldert, Blanche Payson, George Kuwa, Martha Mattox and Helen Lynch.

The part played by Denny is that of a young man who has become a confirmed hypochondriac by reason of the accident he received since he was taken from the incubator into which he was thrust a few minutes after coming into this world. It was not until he came to visit his aunt that any one ever questioned his invalidism. Then it is that the nurse makes him into a daredevil, and he falls in love with her.

Women's Athletic Club Holds Regular Meeting

Mrs. J. H. Toal, president of the Women's Athletic Club, presided over a meeting last night following the weekly gymnasium class at Harvard High school. EDUCATORS TO ELIMINATE POLITICS

Senator Jones' Plan Would Make Elective Members Of State Board

SACRAMENTO, March 17.—A counter move by the educational forces of the state, embodying the proposal of the administration to make the state superintendent of public instruction appointive, but designed to remove all branches of the state department of education from control of the governor, was launched in the Legislature today.

The new plan, submitted by Senator Herbert C. Jones of San Jose, and Senator M. B. Harris of Fresno, takes the form of a constitutional amendment to make members of the state board of education elective and empower them to name the superintendent of public instruction.

Eliminate Politics "This plan would do more to eliminate politics in the administration of the schools than any other measure considered in recent years," Senator Jones said, "and it has the support of the present state superintendent and the majority of the teachers of the state."

Backers of the elective board of education and appointive superintendent plan are preparing to wage an energetic campaign against the proposal of Assemblyman Charles H. Duell of Chico to make the state superintendent appointive by a board of education named by the governor and will offer their program as a substitute for the Duell scheme.

AMERICAN SHIPS LEAD COMMERCE

Vessels Show Larger Gain In Clearances Than Foreign Combined

WASHINGTON, March 17.—American vessels registered a larger gain in clearances from the United States customs districts during 1924 than all foreign competition combined it was revealed today in a compilation by the department of commerce.

An increase of 2,101,000 net tons against but 98,000 tons for vessels under alien registry was chalked up in favor of American shipping.

Vessels with a total tonnage of 68,823,000 net tons were cleared from all customs districts during 1924 compared with 66,624,000 net tons the year previous.

American clearances totaled 30,933,000 as against 38,790,000 tons for foreign vessels, indicating, according to department of commerce officials that American shipping is more than holding its own in world competition.

Los Angeles First Los Angeles registered the largest tonnage gain of any American customs district for the year with total tonnage of 2,320,000 for 1924 as compared with 1,750,000 in 1923.

The New York customs district continued to lead with total clearance of 19,243,000 tons. The Washington customs district with large lumber clearances took second place with 5,150,000 tons closely followed by New Orleans, Ohio, Galveston, Virginia, Rochester, Massachusetts, Los Angeles, Michigan, Philadelphia, San Francisco, Florida, Duluth, Maryland, Subing and Buffalo.

San Francisco with 2,071,000 net tons as compared with 2,012,000 for 1923 continued to record a gain.

Tuesday Club Holds Executives' Meeting

Members of the executive board of the Tuesday Afternoon club met at the clubhouse this morning with Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, club president, presiding. Report was made of the presidents' council yesterday in Pasadena, and announcement made of the convention next month at Santa Barbara. Mrs. T. H. Hudson, philanthropy chairman, will give her annual report at the district convention. The club will hold a "Family Night" Tuesday, March 31, at the Dobinson Players' performance on that date. Mrs. John Robert White is in charge of the tickets.

Elks Plan Banquet To New Officers Thursday

Glendale Elks last night made plans for the banquet Thursday night to the Biltmore hotel in Los Angeles, honoring incoming officers. Earl S. Patterson, retiring exalted ruler, presided. At the meeting next Monday night, Fredrick Ward will be the speaker. Initiatory work will be in charge of Los Angeles lodge No. 99. Installation of recently elected officers will be April 6.

Candidates In City Election Asked to Meet

All candidates for municipal offices at the forthcoming election, and representatives of all civic organizations in Glendale have been invited to attend the meeting of the Southeast Glendale Improvement association at the Glendale Inter-Community school tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock.

Candidates will be invited to address the gathering and set forth their campaign platforms. Members of different improvement associations and other civic bodies are expected to attend in large numbers.

The meeting will be for the purpose of preparing a cooperative plan of action in the selection of candidates, according to James C. Leitch, secretary of the Southeast Glendale association.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

Los Angeles is commanding the respect of the entire Pacific coast as a leader in progress, although it has been hard for northern editors to admit the size and desirability of the metropolis' growth.

Glendale, nestling in the Green Verdugo hills to the north of the great city, is bound to grow along and it is pleasing to see the high rank the "home town" takes in a list of southwest municipalities' building records.

The people of Glendale should make known to their friends in Los Angeles as well as those contemplating coming to southern California, the desirability of this community. It is the nearest approach to perfection of any this writer knows.

In the coming municipal campaign no element derogatory to the growth and progress and prosperity of Glendale should be permitted to enter the fight. Neither should personalities be indulged in. All candidates should have the good of their city at heart. One must believe that a spirit of service motivates their action, anyway.

To serve Glendale is a pleasure. Its people are educated. Its schools, churches, departments of light and water, in fact every activity has been free from that dissension found in so many places. True, we do not hold the same ideas of the fitness of all things, but the people have been wisely guided in their actions and the best has come out of practically every local issue.

Thankfully, one might say, Glendale is not a "one man town." It is not controlled by any class or clique. As a result it is happy, clean, wholesome; yes, thoroughly American. It might be well for some such slogan as this to be adopted by the Chamber of Commerce, in addition to our vaunted boast of being "the fastest growing city in America."

Legislators of California—your representatives—have an important issue to solve within the next week or so. They must decide on a policy relative to financing the highway system of this state.

An increase of one cent in the gasoline tax is advanced as the most immediate method of obtaining money for new construction. It is opposed by the oil companies who have had their experts trying to prove it unnecessary.

This writer is not satisfied with the prospect. He believes more money is needed now. Bond issues are a difficult matter, although they spread the cost over the greatest number. But—

Bond issues mean just one thing. The people pay double for highways which are worn out before those issues can be retired. That is an indisputable fact, although some would argue the point. Perhaps bond issues for anything that is not revenue producing are expensive. However, they are necessary evils in any growing community.

Illinois has saddled too great a highway debt on its shoulders. Wisconsin has paid for its roads as it has pursued a relatively progressive construction program.

If you do not favor the gas tax, what your representatives have to do is to find what substitute you have in mind.

If you disfavor further bond issues put your opinion in black and white and suggest some other method. At this very moment someone may have a better solution than those offered by the oil companies or the California commission or the California highway committee or mine.

As yet the issue is undetermined. Papers and organizations are being stampeded for an increased gasoline tax as the only avenue open to a continuance of necessary road work.

Only one man has a proposition that sounds different. Van Bernard, Butte county dirt farmer, would tax the crude oil produced in California the small sum of five cents a barrel. That savors of good economics, but it is the opposition of the vested interests.

BRITAIN FEARS U.S. NOW GOLD MART

Return to Standard Money Has Caused Hubbub Around England

LONDON, March 17.—England is in a hubbub, in fear the United States already has become the money master of the world. Reports that Great Britain is about to return to a gold standard have caused a sudden commotion, with outcries and warnings from many sources that Great Britain will soon be under the heel of American financiers, if she is not already so.

The United States controls the world's gold supply, and when Great Britain returns to a gold standard she will be under the control of those who hold the strings of the world's gold bags, it is argued. The pro and con of this question is being bitterly fought out in the columns of the English newspapers.

A frank article, printed in The Referee, a Sunday newspaper, has attracted some attention.

Enquire in Balance "British Finance a Back Number" is The Referee headline, with a sub-heading reading "Our obsolete methods are losing an empire."

"Mr. Bruce, Prime Minister of Australia, protested to the Imperial Conference over a year ago against the submission of Britain to what he called the dependence upon the United States," the article read.

"And a pitiful dependence it is! Dependence brought about by our inept and perilous finance—brought about and persisted in to our decline, and perhaps our fall. The policy of the Bank of England, and of government after government—during and since the war—is to make an old system work unmodified, in conditions which imperatively demand its modification.

Old Device Obsolete "The old device of raising the bank rate will not work now, either to stop exports, or to attract imports, of gold. It will not now affect gold, but it will injure industry, fill the Gazette, create unemployment, and add to the dole tax.

"We do not need the gold! We can get back to the gold standard of value, and to legal tender fully backed by gold, by a modification of our system of finance!

Referee Plan

"The steps to be taken in union that are necessary to restore our money are the steps necessary to restore our independence of America. These steps are: "The limitation of legal tender to paper fully covered by gold; the limitation of the issue of such paper to the equivalent of the gold we have got; the establishment of an elastic banking-credit currency; the intensive cultivation of the check system, and the issue of credit, practically interest free, under proper safeguards, for productive purposes alone."

This article is but one of many, which seem to indicate that if Great Britain hasn't already surrendered to the United States as the money controller of the world, that there are grave fears

Free-Radium Water

for your own use in testing its amazing health values

Radium Ore Revigator Co.

I have been using the water from a Radium Ore Lined Jar for three months, and please, state for the benefit of any sufferers, that I have gained eight pounds in weight, I sleep very much better, and enjoy my food much better and eat anything I wish. I believe the time will come when every home in the world will have one of these Radium Ore Lined Jars.

These statements are made that they may possibly influence some one in poor health to avail themselves of this opportunity of having soft, radiated water.

Yours truly,
J. G. MORAVEC, Palms, Calif.

Chicago, Ill.

I am employed as a Pullman conductor and am constantly on the road, sometimes being out three or four days, without any chance for recreation or much needed rest. After being out the second day my bowels would not function properly and my system would get run down and I had to use some cathartic to cleanse my system. About two months use of this water my system is entirely improved and this trouble of mine corrected.

O. D. JOHNSON,

Thousands have enjoyed almost miraculous results from drinking the radium water at Hot Springs, Arkansas.

It has aided them to eliminate bodily poisons, which had lowered their vitality and resistance to disease.

Its curative and health values are well recognized by medical and scientific authorities.

Now Get It At Home

Until recently radium water could not be obtained unless you went to Hot Springs or some other similar health resort.

For radio-activity in water can not be retained. It is lost within a few days.

Now, however, the Radium Ore Revigator enables you to return radio-activity to water by a simple, sure, economical method—no change in the taste of the water.

Try Radium Water FREE

We know the health values of radium water as do the many users of our product.

But we want you to know. So we are making radium water available at our expense to all who desire to try it.

RICHFIELD DROPS OIL PRICE 1 CENT

Action Taken in Following Out Policy Of Justice To Customers

The Richfield Oil Co., today announces a new general price reduction of one cent a gallon throughout its territory. While this is not a reduction on the present system of special prices offered to coupon book purchasers, it is a new price to the smaller buyer of five and ten gallons as it can be secured either with or without coupons.

C. M. Fuller, president of the Richfield Oil Co., in announcing the new general price, stated that it is only in line with the Richfield policy which avoids any special concessions or favoritism to larger users, and went on to state:

"Believing that every user of gasoline is entitled to the same price, and that the present system of discount coupon books or special discount requisitions is economically unsound and contrary to the best principles of merchandising; working an injustice on the majority of motorists—this company desires to emphasize its policy of one price to all."

"The new price announced is not a reduction or in any sense anything more than an effort to give the benefit of the lowest possible marketing price to every consumer of gasoline; offering to all, the same saving as that previously afforded by the special privileges and discounts given only to purchasers of coupon books."

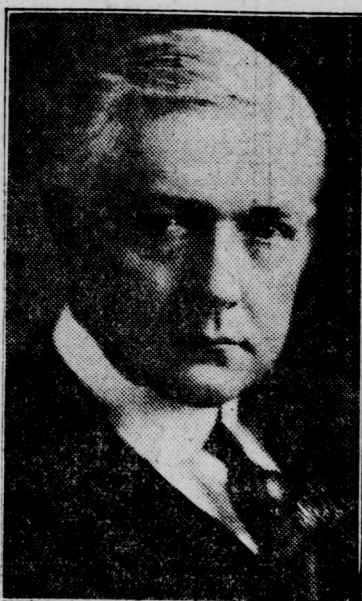

"In announcing this new price, we have fully protected the thousands of independent dealers handling Richfield products with the same margin of profit they have always enjoyed, enabling them to give to the smallest purchaser of gasoline the benefit of this price without any loss of profit."

"Richfield coupon books can still be purchased and are recommended as a convenience, but are not offered on a bargain sale basis or as an inducement to purchase more gasoline."

"Richfield gasoline is, always has been and always will be, of the same high quality which, with Richfield's policy of fair play to all, has won thousands of friends and users wherever the 'Gasoline of Power' is sold."

Resigns Post

JUDGE BENJAMIN F. BLEDSOE, who will quit federal district court bench to become candidate for mayor of Los Angeles.

Judge Benjamin F. Bledsoe of the federal district court has announced that he will resign his office about March 25, to actively enter the campaign for mayor of Los Angeles.

Judge Bledsoe was born in San Bernardino February 8, 1874, and is the son of a prominent lawyer, Robert Emmett Bledsoe, who is descended from Hon. Jesse Bledsoe, one time senator from Kentucky. Judge Bledsoe attended the public schools of San Bernardino and graduated from Leland Stanford university in 1896. He was admitted to the bar in the same year and commenced the practice of law in San Bernardino county. In 1901 he was elected judge of the superior court of San Bernardino county and was re-elected in 1906 and 1912. On October 23, 1914, Judge Bledsoe resigned his superior court judgeship to accept the federal appointment. He has presided over that tribunal for the past ten years.

In 1917 Judge Bledsoe served as grand master of the Masons of California, and in 1919 was grand commander of the California Knights Templar. In 1911 he was grand chancellor of the California Knights of Pythias.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, March 17.—L. H. Boydston, a leader in civic affairs of this city, has set the motorists and pedestrians at war by his proposal that five feet be taken from the sidewalks on each side of San Fernando boulevard, to widen this congested street. The sidewalks are now twelve feet in width. Taking five feet to add to the street would leave seven feet remaining for the sidewalk, which Mr. Boydston contends is ample to take care of the traffic for many years to come.

In further support of his suggestion Mr. Boydston agrees that he has taken pains during the past week to see how much of the sidewalks the pedestrian traffic consumes, and he finds that it remains close to the buildings on the inner side; that very little of the space at the outer edge of the sidewalk is being utilized at present.

Pedestrians claim that the sidewalks are none too wide at present and that any attempt to slice chunks off them and give motorists more room at their expense, will be vigorously opposed.

Arthur W. Monroe and Donald Offill have left for Colorado, the former to resume his work as park ranger at the Mesa Verde National park and the latter to spend the summer with relatives at Montrose. They are making the trip by auto and expect to take their time on the trip, visiting the Grand Canyon and the Indian reservations along the route.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Mortensen of Salt Lake City and Mrs. J. F. Stearley of Provo, Utah, who visited for several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Cecil C. Smith of 411 Palm avenue, have left for their homes. The women guests are sisters of Mrs. Smith.

Mrs. Beulah Boyd has returned to her home in Sonora after a brief visit here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pomeroy, of 238 Palm avenue.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, March 17.—Just one month from today, or April 17, a "Fathers' Night" program will be held at the Eagle Rock school, under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher association. At this meeting further plans for the May Day fete will be announced.

George G. Dill, local resident and brother of William H. Dill, the well-known hotel magnate, has purchased from Mrs. Marie Fritz the property adjoining on the east the Edwards & Wilsey block on Colorado boulevard, the figure being given as $30,000. The property fronts fifty feet on the boulevard and has a depth of 140 feet. It is improved with a one-story building, containing a dry goods store, a barber shop and shoe shop. The sale was consummated through James L. Seery of J. B. Brown & Co. Mr. Dill has announced no plans for further improving his purchase.

At the last meeting of the Realty board the following chairmen were elected: Publicity, L. B. Wilson; membership, H. I. De Vol; parks and boulevards, R. C. Blackmer; entertainment, O. F. Kroehle; public utilities, H. B. Westbrook; community arbitration, H. G. Warren, K. W. Hunt, C. A. Mc-

Fourth Birthday Celebration Set For Thursday In Hahn's Hall

Glendale lodge of Ancient Order of United Workmen will celebrate its fourth birthday Thursday night at Hahn's hall, 109-A North Brand boulevard. There will be a lodge meeting at 7:45 o'clock, with initiation of twelve candidates. At 8:45 o'clock friends will be welcomed for the birthday party. E. T. Lysle, state manager, will be present. There will be a program and dancing. Music for the dancing will be furnished by the lodge orchestra, which will make its debut that night. Visitors are expected from Owensmouth, Bell, Los Angeles, San Bernardino and Ontario.

DAILY DOZEN

SACRAMENTO, March 17.—Strenuous objection by A. Matrangola, local resident, to being a compulsory witness each morning to the spectacle of Mrs. F. L. Guth, a neighbor, performing her "sitting-up" exercises before the unshaded window facing his room, led to the arrest of the woman exponent of physical culture.

Homer Warren, Jr., who is a patient at the Pasadena hospital, following a serious operation which he underwent about a month ago, is now convalescing and is able to sit in a wheel chair for a short time every day. He will, however, remain in the hospital for another month. His many friends in Eagle Rock are pleased to hear of his steady progress on the road to recovery. A "nervy" burglar entered the home of F. E. Prindle early last Saturday night. Mrs. Prindle was dozing in the room, and was aroused by his movements around in the room. He secured her watch and hastened away.

ADAMS NAMED AS NEW LEAGUE HEAD

Newly Organized Municipal Club Meets To Pick Official Leaders

H. V. Adams was elected president of the Glendale Municipal league when that body met to perfect organization at the City Hall last night. Other officers who were elected last night were Charles L. Chandler, first vice-president; Mrs. E. W. Hayward, second vice-president; W. H. Richards, secretary, and J. C. Sherer, treasurer. A committee of three to draft bylaws for the league will consist of Mr. Sherer, Mrs. E. W. Gilliland and H. M. Butts.

No executive committee was named last night because of the small number in attendance at the meeting. Mr. Adams pointed out that a large membership is expected within a short time and that appointment of the executive committee will be left until then. Thirty-two persons present at the meeting signified their intentions of becoming members of the league. The next meeting will take place one week from last night at the Wilson Intermediate school, Mr. Adams announced.

Woods' Dancing Pupils To Be Guests At Party

Advanced dancing pupils of Woods' Kleeve Kiddies will be entertained by Mrs. Nanno Woods at her studio, 122 West Milford street, Thursday afternoon, at a party. Mrs. Woods announces that a study of Biblical dancing will be made and also of the various musical instruments used by Miriam, King David and other singers and dancers of Biblical times. The resemblance of Gypsy dancing of the present day and dancing of old Egypt will also be studied. Only pupils of the 10 o'clock Saturday class are privileged to attend.

Romance and The Red Cars

A Story of Service

Romance has ever attached to transportation—and California, to romance. The o-x-cart, the railroad, the motor-vehicle—and all the steps of transportation in between—have contributed to our traditions and our development. And now Southern California is writing its own particular chapter in this fascinating history.

THE Pacific Electric Railway is as much the creation of Southern California as her own highways. Both have grown to meet a natural demand.

First was the problem of providing transportation between the southern metropolis and the scores of surrounding communities.

The beaches and the mountains were waste unless they became accessible to the people.

Los Angeles had to have means of reaching its harbor.

The harbor required facilities for transporting its freight.

Lumber sought an outlet to the sea.

Fruit demanded conveyance between packing plants and shipping centers.

And, in time, oil needed truckage for tank-cars from wells to refineries, and farther.

The territory to be served embraced some 32,308 square miles.

From 10 to 1139 Miles of Track

In 1895, there were 104 miles of Pacific Electric tracks. Today there are 1139.

That this is the largest of any interurban electric system in the world has long been true. Also, this is one of the least important things to be said of the Pacific Electric.

That it covers four counties, serves fifty-four incorporated cities, and carried 115,000,000 passengers last year—these things are important.

So is it important that the Pacific Electric pays taxes amounting to $1,200,000 a year.

That it provides support for a sufficient number of families to populate a town almost the size of Alhambra—That its annual payroll totals in excess of $9,000,000.

These are facts that mean something to the welfare of Southern California.

The Pleasure Yield

Returning to The Red Cars: We have touched on their serious service to the community. They have another side—a joyful one.

Without them, how would the beaches be enjoyed as they are? How otherwise would thousands each week visit the mountains, the old missions, the orange groves—the rarest charms of Southern California—that are so easily and economically reached by The Red Cars.

Mr. Lowe, for example, is the best known and most accessible mountain resort in Southern California. It is visited by more tourists than even the world-famous Yosemite Valley. It is exclusively a Pacific Electric resort, owned and operated by the company—as is also Redondo Beach.

Then there are the community events which the Pacific Electric is so naturally a contributor: Such as, the Tournament of Roses at Pasadena, the Orange Shows at San Bernardino and Anaheim, the Los Angeles County Fair at Pomona, the Riverside County Fair at Riverside, the Mission Play at San Gabriel. And so on, throughout the year, and over the entire community.

Truly it appears that the Pacific Electric is a vital part of Southern California. Well has it been called, "The Great Circulatory System of the Southwest."

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen, of 26 Forbes St., Rochester, N. Y., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery, which he called Allenhu, to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let his discovery through the newspapers. He has therefore instructed Allenhu Drug Co. and druggists everywhere to dispense Allenhu with the understanding that if his prescription does not banish every sign and symptom of the disease he will gladly return your money without comment.—Advertisement.

FASHION DISPLAY AT PENDROY'S

Latest Spring Styles And Modes To Be Seen For Maids and Matrons

Femininity may revel in the profusion of fashion delights for spring as displayed this week in charming fabrics and chic creations at the Pendroy Department store, South Brand boulevard at Harvard street. There maids and matrons will find every nook, from spacious display windows to special departments filled with those things decreed by Dame Fashion for the smartly dressed.

Greeting visitors at the store is one window presenting a scene of spring loveliness. Smart spring frocks in golden tones are shown on graceful models. In the opposite window are billows of beautiful silks so popular for spring wear. Other windows are filled with articles so desirable for a stylish wardrobe.

New Styles Shown

If milady is perplexed as to just what she should wear for spring she will find three definite, distinct modes to choose from. The first, the tailored vogue, from which every vestige of decoration has been deftly eliminated with the result that the lines are graciously severe, daringly clean-cut. A second mode sponsors costumes slightly more feminine, characterized by circular godets, flowing sleeves and clever bits of decoration. In the third vogue the feminine heart revels, for here is the transparency of chiffon, silver and gold thread embroidery, gossamer lace, floating fringe.

She will find certain fashion details firmly established: brilliant satins, fine twills, shimmering crepes, diaphanous chiffons, supple kashmirs, printed silk crepes, exquisite laces, bengalines, Ottoman cords.

Many New Designs

Dresses in entirely new design are shown in all these fabrics. There are yokes of natural lace, fine pleating and tucking, flares, artful godets, graceful lace jabots, rich embroideries and floating ties. A feature of the style is the fitted waistline.

Hats of all kinds harmonize with the bright ensembles and coats of spring. We see them both extremely small and large in rose, blue, yellow, green and beige tones. Frequently the ombre influence is introduced. Crowns are most interesting, for in them one finds all kinds of dents, ridges and creases. The newest of brims, even in small models, are slightly larger in the back. Bangkoks and felts, silk failles and taffeta, with now and then a Milan, are ultra materials from which milady may satisfy her millinery wants.

African Prince Speaks To Nazarene Audience

Prince J. Blayechettai, orator and statesman, of Abyssinia, East Africa, was the speaker Sunday night at the First Church of the Nazarene, 417 East Acacia avenue. He traces his lineage back to King Solomon and belongs to the royal family of Menelek, the family of the late king of Abyssinia. He was accompanied to Glendale by his wife, who is a native of California. She presented piano solos. Prince Blayechettai will speak again at the First Church of the Nazarene on March 24 on "Africa."

GYPSIES' KING RETAIL TRADE ONCE ROYAL MERCHANTS HUSBAND HAVE SAY

Rigo, Famous Violinist, Beau
Of Boulevards, Lives
Now In Poverty

By WILLIAM PARKER,
For International News Service.
NEW YORK, March 17.—Another royal crown is going begging today.

Who will be the next "King of the Gypsies?" The logical successor to "King" Nicholas John, of New London, Conn., who has just been buried at Yonkers, is Rigo, the gypsy violinist. Through the haze of cigarette smoke and the aroma of stale wine of a little cafe on the Eastside, Rigo magnanimously disclaimed the honor.

"The 'King of the Gypsies' is not dead, for I am the king!" he said, and added, with emphasis:
"But I don't want the job. There is no money in it, and there is no palace to live in."

Rigo once had a palace—as grand as any king's. It was on the fabled Nile, in romantic Egypt. He occupied it with Princess de Chimay, who was Clara Ward, of Detroit, daughter of a Michigan millionaire. Rigo was playing at a cafe in Montmartre, Paris, when he met her.

"Great Lover"
The princess had a husband, and two children, but she surrendered everything for the dapper gypsy, beau of the boulevards, who had become known as one of the world's most famous lovers.
The younger generation will remember Rigo. His name will come back as a pleasant memory to many women to whom alimony is no longer a novelty.
His name is not such a pleasant memory to numerous men now well along into their second marriage.

Eighteen years ago, in Budapest, Hungary, 20,000 gypsies surrounded the hotel where Rigo was living with Princess de Chi-may and formally offered him the crown—in fact, they insisted that he accept it.

Romance Not Dead
"I am poor today," Rigo said.
"I cannot afford to be a king. I would like to wander with the gypsies, but I am not young; I am 56. I said 56, not 65."

"Romance? No, it is not dead within me. I am an older man than I used to be. Time is no friend of man. I am fat. I have not so much to offer. There is so much color in my face. Eight years I have played here. I used to play at the Tchaik Tavern, San Francisco, and many other wonderful places. Once I got $2000 a week in vaudeville. Beautiful women courted me. Ha! ha!"

Happy But Poor
"They don't now. I don't get much money here, but it is a living. I am happily married. A beautiful girl, twenty-three years younger than I am; daughter of a rich Baltimore man. I am happy. I get home at 4, 5, 6 o'clock in the morning. My wife, she brings breakfast to me in bed. She wheels it up on a little cart. I love my wife. She is beautiful."

"The Princess de Chimay was a beautiful woman, too. I have a picture of her face tattooed on my arm. Twelve years ago I went to Italy, to the hotel where we spent our bridal night. The very same bed was in the room.
I wrote our names on it."
"No, I don't want to be king of the Gypsies. I just want to be happy and think about the past."

Doctor Reserves Spot For Powdering Noses

MANCHESTER, Eng., Mar. 17.—
Dr. Hewlett Johnson, the new dean of Manchester, preaching in Manchester, said:

"There may be two points of view whether a nice girl should put powder on her nose when it is red. There can, however, be only one view as to the proper place for a good-mannered girl to perform this act of toilet. The place for this sort of thing is not a crowded railway compartment, in which some girls do not think it bad manners to take from their hand bags a silver box and dab their faces with the fluffy little thing it contains."

HOW NERVE TROUBLES WRECK HEALTH

Any physician will tell you that if you suffer with occasional spells of nervousness, trembling, sharp, darting nerve pains, nervous fatigue, that such a condition is often the starting point of a serious nervous breakdown.

Stop the slightest case of nerves before a more serious condition undermines your entire nervous system.

Gain relief by taking Eopa Neu-ritis Tablets, which not only stop painful and distressing nerve torture, but tone up the nerve cells and revitalize the entire nervous system.

Eopa Neuritis Tablets are prepared from a physician's prescription, in accordance with the Science of Homeopathy, a method of treatment endorsed by physicians throughout America. Eopa Neu-ritis Tablets usually give safe, quick relief. They are guaranteed harmless and are free from narcotics, bromides and coal tar products. Your druggist will recommend them.

How Women Vote at Polls

MRS. CASPER WHITNEY, vice president of New York State League of Women Voters, reveals some startling facts about what candidates the fair voters pick out when they cast their ballots, and why.

MRS.
CASPER
WHITNEY

By MARGERY PICKARD

NEW YORK, Mar. 17.—Has the handsome candidate the advantage in getting the women's vote?
Emphatically not, says Mrs. Cas-per Whitney, vice president of the New York State League of Women Voters.

The proof she offers is the fact that our officials are no more Adonis-like now than they were before the women got the vote.
(Take that, Mr. Coolidge!)

It is a big mistake to introduce the sex idea at all into politics, Mrs. Whitney feels.

"It has no place there. Men and women must be elected to office because of their fitness and certain qualities that women can bring to legislative bodies which they would otherwise lack, she believes. But as for asking for immunities or special dispensations, that will not do at all."

"I do not believe that half enough stress is laid on the fact that in politics as well as in matrimony men and women supplement each other. I do not know if there will ever come a time when the legislative bodies of our country will have half women and half men representatives. I am not particularly interested in that.
But there must be enough women to represent their interests."

"Inherently women are more interested in the welfare of humanity than men. For generations and generations back women have been the homemakers, while the men have been in the outside business. Especially when the interests of children are under discussion the woman's crusading spirit is awakened. I think that it is very well that things are so. It need women legislators because they will look out for these things."

"Women choose particular men because they believe them best fitted for the offices for which they are candidates," Mrs. Whitney
pearance does not come up for consideration."

Mrs. Whitney has no use for most kinds of old theories. There is this matter of the length of time that women can talk, and talk and talk about nothing. According to Mrs. Whitney there is nothing to this table at all.

"Women speakers usually have their facts better in hand than men," she declares.

PARIS, March 17.—This summer it will be possible for American tourists to step from a train to a glacier. The second stretch of the most ambitious railroad in the world will be completed in June. It will take visitors from Chamoix to a hotel erected at the edge of a glacier on the side of Mont Blanc, at a height of 12, 300 feet.

The railway, which is an overhead system, the cars being suspended from three wires, was opened last year as far as La Para, about 8000 feet up.

Next year it is hoped that the project will be completed. It will then be possible to ride in a comfortable car to a point 150 feet below Mili Peak, just below the peak of Mont Blanc, about 14, 000 feet above sea level.

Thousands of Doctors Starving in England

LONDON, March 17.—Thousands of fully qualified doctors and nurses are out of work in England, due to the over-crowded state of the medical profession, it is reported. Many of them are said to be on the verge of starvation, while hundreds daily apply for positions that would bring them in $10 weekly at the most.
Medical agencies report that their books are overcrowded with names of clever and expert men and women who do not have a day's work for months.

One cause is said to be the "panel" system, under which every person earning under $25 weekly must pay a small contribution weekly and have free medical attention, which results in some doctors having as many as ten and twelve thousand patients on their "panel" list.

TRAGEDY FOLLOWS WOMAN TO GRAVE

Wealthy Divorcee's Death Recalls Two Years Of Pathetic Life

SACRAMENTO, March 17.—
With the arrival recently of the body of Mrs. Effie Gainsley, divorced wife of Seth Gainsley, wealthy Sacramento brewer, and interment in the family plot, is concluded a story of unrelieved pathos and tragedy during the last two years of the wealthy woman's life.

Following the divorce in 1921, Mrs. Gainsley who possessed a fortune of $150,000, was declared incompetent. In 1922 a jury restored her to competency and she made her home in Venice, where she purchased a mansion on Washington boulevard. While living in the southern city, Mrs.
Gainsley was victimized by four gangsters, one of whom named Williams, she agreed to marry.
Soon thereafter she was taken ill and died in a Venice hospital, aged 57 years.

Steel Jewelry
Meantime the gangsters broke into the untenanted home and made away with diamonds worth many thousands of dollars. Los Angeles police are on their trail and already have recovered the expensive limousine which also was stolen.

Two wills have been discovered.
The first was executed in Sacramento, May 2, 1921, under which Robert G. Cook, a brother, Mary Machette, a half sister, and Mrs.
Sophia Behrens, of Venice, are beneficiaries. Judge Malcolm Glenn has granted Cook special letters of administration.

A second will, made in the Venice hospital two days before Mrs.
Gainsley's death, is in existence and petition has been made by J. Cody of Los Angeles for papers of administration.

SIERRA RAINFALL
SAN FRANCISCO, March 17.—
Although heavy precipitation occurred in the Sierra Nevada mountains, it was accompanied by comparatively warm weather.
Much of the precipitation was in the form of rain even at fairly high altitudes.

SNOW MELTING
SAN FRANCISCO, March 17.—
The warm weather in the first week of March decreased the snow-pack in the Sierras considerably but snow again began falling on the 6th. At the same time the heaviest rainfall of the season began in Southern California and the Southern San Joaquin valley.
This rain will prove of great benefit and ameliorate the conditions that prevailed at the end of February.

BALKANS FEAR FLEET GOING TO RUSSIA

Sixteen Rusty Old Ships Put War Clouds on Europe's Horizon

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service
LONDON, Mar. 17.—Diplomatic storm clouds appear on the horizon of Europe, and sixteen rusty old warships are the cause.

For four years these old warships have been riding at anchor in the harbor of Bizerta, Tunis.
They are the ships in which General Wrangel and his followers made their escape from the Cripsea, after their final defeat by the Soviet forces in 1920.

This unhappy fleet, conveying a number of White refugees, including 350 women and 90 chil-
cember 3, 1920, and went to Marseilles. The refugees presented a problem to France and the warships were tactfully directed to Bizerta, where they were interned and demobilized by the removal of their essential parts.

When France recently recognized Russia it was agreed that the interned fleet should be returned to Soviet Russia. Rumania, however, has risen to protest against the return of this fleet to the Black Sea. Rumania has no fleet of its own and inasmuch as Rumanians are ever fearful of trouble with Soviet Russia over Bessarabia, they are not anxious to strengthen the naval power of the Soviet.

Rumanians Object Rumania representatives are understood to have protested to Great Britain and asked this country to intervene and prevent the return of these warships to the Russians in the Black Sea.

Turkey, it is understood, also objects to these ships returning to the Black Sea and may refuse to permit them to pass through the Straits.

The British government is not inclined to become excited over the matter, but believes that the matter can be settled in accordance with the Lausanne treaty, which provides for the passage of warships through the Dardanelles under certain regulations.

This troublesome fleet consists of two battleships, one cruiser, one light cruiser, four destroyers, one sloop and one repair ship. It is very doubtful whether it will ever be of any use to Russia if it does get back into the Black Sea, for it is an old fleet at its best,
and it has been dismantled. This fact, however, does not seem to check the worry of some of Russia's neighbors.

LEAFHOPPER PEST ENEMY OF BEES

California Congressman To Wage War On Wee Bug
With Big Appetite

WASHINGTON, March 17.—
Thanks to a fight made by Representative Free of California, it looks as though the activities of the leafhopper, a little bug with a voracious appetite for bees, would be effectively curbed within the next few years, with a resultant enormous saving for growers in California and other beet-producing states.

An appropriation of $10,000 for the study of sugar beet diseases and pests has been incorporated in the agricultural appropriation bill recently passed by Congress and now awaiting the president's signature.

Free declared today, following passage of the bill, that nearly $50,000,000 a year is lost by the beet growers because of the ravages of disease and insects, a sum equal to the annual return on crops.

In California alone two factories, at Visalia and Corcoran, after a vain four years' struggle against the poor beet crops due to the ravages of the leafhopper, were dismantled and moved by their owners.

Annual Loss
The department of agriculture estimates that the annual loss in the Salinas valley is $1,000,000.
Observers say that they can warn
of plant diseases and pests have
been appropriated, the department plans to begin an intensive campaign designed to minimize their activities.

The leafhoppers come in from the alkali deserts and ruin the crops before the farmers hardly are aware of their presence.
Observers say that they can warn
of plant diseases and pests have
been appropriated, the department plans to begin an intensive campaign designed to minimize
their activities.

Further plans include a probable attempt to breed a leafhop-per resistant beet and the sending of a scientist to South America to study the pest in its original habitat.

Western Auto Supply Co.
Spokane, Wash.

Gentlemen:
We are writing to let you know of the wonderful service that your tires have given on our cars. We have five kinds of roads day in and day out.

About a year ago we started using your Western Giant tires and we find them to be the best tires that we have ever used. They give us a longer life on the road and they are more comfortable to drive on. They are also more economical, usually have less blow outs, and they are more durable. It is indeed the ideal tire for the road.

With your tires over many bad roads, we are getting around sixteen thousand miles of service and many of them have been on the cars over a year. It is indeed gratifying to know that we can get tires that give us this kind of service.

Yours very truly,

JAP IMMIGRATION STATISTICS CITED

California Commission Gives Figures Refuting Stand of Orientals

SAN FRANCISCO, March 17.—Decrease of Japanese immigration under the federal act excluding all aliens ineligible to citizenship is cited by the California joint immigration committee as refuting the protest made by Japan that under the preceding gentlemen's agreement arrivals from that country were kept down to a minimum.

During the last six months of 1924, 107 Japanese were admitted at this port, while the figures for the corresponding period in 1922 and 1923 were respectively 1019 and 942. During the first six months of 1924 (the last six months under the agreement) 2072 Japanese were admitted at San Francisco.

Seattle admitted in the last six months of 1924, 171 Japanese, while in the similar period in 1922 and 1923 the numbers respectively were 949 and 727.

Enter Honolulu
Honolulu admitted an average of sixty-five Japanese immigrants per month during the last six months of 1924, while the average

Fee Urged For Fire Permits In Forests

SACRAMENTO, March 17.—Asserting that the State Fish and Game commission charges hunters $1 license fee, that the users of highways pay their share of road upkeep in the gasoline tax, that the federal government charges $5 "for the privilege of entering Yosemite National Park," State Forester M. B. Pratt today issued an appeal for enactment of the proposed law imposing a charge of $1 for campfire permits in state forests.

The state forester said that smoking and campfires in state forests were responsible for 54 per cent of the 2657 fires last season and that they should bear a share of the expense of fire-fighting.

Young Farmer Treated As Hydrophobia Victim

SACRAMENTO, March 17.—Victor Simpson, a young rancher of Applegate, Placer county, is undergoing a twenty-four-week Pasteur treatment for hydrophobia prevention, following inspection of the body of a fox which bit him by university experts which disclosed that the animal was suffering from hydrophobia. Attracted by a disturbance in the hog corral a few days ago, the farmer discovered a fox in death struggle with a young pig. When Simpson grabbed the intruder by the hind legs, it turned and bit him before he could kill it.

Brother, Aiding Sister With Meal, Is Killed

ROME, Mar. 17.—Eagerness to help his sister in preparing dinner caused the death of a young mechanic of this city recently. He took a sharp knife and began to cut a piece off a rabbit which was hanging on a nail in the wall. Meeting with resistance in the hog corral a few days ago, the farmer discovered a fox in death struggle with a young pig. When Simpson grabbed the intruder by the hind legs, it turned and bit him before he could kill it.

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

YOU MAY BE IMMUNE TO DIPHTHERIA (Part 3)

There are three ways by which children (or adults) may be immune to diphtheria; that means that they will not "catch" it under ordinary circumstances. (1) will talk of diphtheria in relation to children in this article because it is so largely a disease of childhood.)

1. Childhood may continue to have the natural, active immunity with which they are born. (This is also true of other infectious diseases.)

2. They may have an immediate passive immunity conferred upon them by antitoxin, which will prevent as well as cure diphtheria. If they are susceptible to diphtheria and are exposed, they should be given the protection conferred by the antitoxin.

3. They may have an artificial, active, permanent immunity conferred upon them by three injections, a week apart, of Toxin-antitoxin vaccine.

Toxin-antitoxin is a product composed of a small amount of diphtheria toxins (poisons, neutralized by antitoxin) to the extent of not being poisonous and yet still retaining the power to stimulate the development of the antitoxin by the children's bodies. It can be determined which children or adults do not possess a natural immunity to diphtheria and therefore are liable to contract the disease if exposed to it, by giving them the Schick test. I told you of that last week. Do not confuse the Schick test with the antitoxin and toxin-antitoxin treatment. It is not a diphtheria treatment; simply a test as to the susceptibility to diphtheria.

"As 95 per cent of the deaths from diphtheria occur before the age of six, or school age, the chief hope for the future control of the disease would seem to lie in the active immunization of the child population, preferably between the age of six months to two years." So states Dr. Genung, Health Officer of Ithaca, N. Y.

You will want to know if any practical results have come from this immunization with toxin-antitoxin. I am going to give you a summary of a paper written by Dr. F. W. Sears, District Health Officer of Syracuse, N. Y., entitled "Can Diphtheria Be Eliminated?", and published in the February issue of the Journal of Public Health.

In the city of Auburn, February, 1922, an intensive campaign, with the parents' consent, for Schick testing and immunization against diphtheria was begun. Previous to this campaign diphtheria was becoming a menace to the children, for there had occurred an enormous loss in school attendance due to quarantine from this disease and a yearly average of 104 cases, with 14 deaths each year.

At the time the report was given, there had been but one death from diphtheria in the city of Auburn for the 12 months previous, and this death occurred in a child two and one-half years old who had not been immunized. There were five other children in the family who had received the toxin-antitoxin treatment and not one of them got the disease. During the past school year, there were no cases of diphtheria among the school children, while there were seven cases among those not immunized. Diphtheria among adults who had not had the immunization treatment had not lessened, so it evidently was not a natural drop.

Another striking result has been shown in the Durand Hospital of Chicago. Previous to the toxin-antitoxin treatment, the diphtheria rate among the nurses was 13 per cent. The routine testing of prospective nurses with the Schick test to see which of those are susceptible to diphtheria, and the immunization of those who are susceptible, has practically removed diphtheria from the causes of sickness among the nurses in a hospital devoted to treating contagious diseases, and there has not been a single case of diphtheria among the nurses for more than 14 months. (T. T. Crooks, M. D.)

All the physicians who are working with diphtheria and the toxin-antitoxin vaccination, believe that you should have your children Schick tested and if they are susceptible, have them immunized against the disease by the toxin-antitoxin vaccination.

Tomorrow—Answers To Correspondents

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you, please enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on diphtheria is the only one for which you must enclose a stamp in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it for any other purpose. It is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate your sending me and regret that I cannot give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest, I will feature the same, if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

A Reader: "How are wool-filled comforters washed?"

Answer: Make a generous lather with white soap, a little washing soda, and a few drops of household ammonia in enough moderately hot water to cover the quilt. Soak the quilt in this for 30 minutes, then press the dirt out with a potato masher or a croquet mallet. Avoid rubbing. Now squeeze the quilt with the hands, not wringing, and place it in the same amount of fresh moderately-hot water to rinse, and once more use the potato masher on it. Hang on the line to drip, and shake it often. When partly dry beat with a rattan carpet beater to lighten the filling. (Note: Cotton quilts do not need to have the rinse water of the same temperature as the washing water. Indeed, many housewives, after washing them, hang them on the line and rinse with a hose, then let drip dry and beat with a rattan beater. But wool-filled quilts may not be given this vigorous treatment.)

Mrs. G. R.: "Can one dye old furs at home?"

Answer: No, you will have to have a professional furrier to do that.

Mrs. S. M. J.: "If you were going to paint the walls of kitchen, living room, bath and bedroom instead of papering them, what colors would you choose?"

Answer: I would choose a light tan or buff-color for the living room, because it makes the best background for pictures and also because it harmonizes with almost any color you may select in a drapery-and-furnishings color-scheme. I would next decide upon either old-blue or old-rose for the bedroom walls (unless the room is a North room, without any sunshine at all—in which case I'd choose yellow). Sage-green is a cool color for the bathroom walls. And a light gray is splendid for the kitchen. If you use a waterproof paint you will be able to wash down the walls and thus keep your home sanitary and spotless. I believe in painted walls.

Answer to Mrs. E. J. H.: "You put only 'city' on your return envelope and as I receive letters from several cities, I do not know where to send it. Drop me a postal giving full address, and I will mail you the multigraphed article on Eight Good Desserts in your tomorrow which I am holding."

Crystal Shower

Miss Evangeline Quackenbush of 1119 East Colorado street, whose marriage to Arthur Troxell of Los Angeles, will be an event of the spring, was complimented Saturday night at a crystal shower, given by Mrs. O. S. Palmer and her daughter, Miss Ruth Palmer of 1008 East Colorado street. A color scheme of green and white was carried out in the decorations, St. Patrick's day favors being used with apricot blossoms. The centerpiece of the table was a miniature castle and moat with a green pig guarding the doorway to the castle. Little Miss Mary Welch was the postman, coming to the door with a telegram, which she gave Miss Quackenbush. In the telegram were instructions directing her to where the gifts were. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Palmer and Miss Palmer with Mrs. M. E. Perkins and Mrs. F. E. Welch assisting. Guests were Misses Pauline Allen and Dorothy Johnson and Mrs. Troxell of Los Angeles; Miss Evangeline Quackenbush, Mesdames E. E. Perkins, F. E. Welch, Wilfred Brader, Floyd Wilkes, Clarence McMillan, Stanley Walker, Frank Swanson, Thomas Miller, N. H. Palmer and Marjory and Shirley Welch.

Date of Wedding

Announcement of the wedding date of Miss Grace Crampton of 325 West Burchett street, and Roy Arthur Wehe of San Francisco, has been made at several social affairs this week as May 2, 1925, at the Church of the Angels, Anaheim. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Crampton, 325 West Burchett street. Announcement of the date for the wedding was a surprise, a small note containing the announcement being concealed in rice cakes served at the dinner. Mrs. R. P. Isitt, relative of the bride-elect, found the announcement and made known its contents. Attending the dinner party were: Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Isitt, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Isitt and daughters, Jane and Margaret, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Meyers, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Hallett, Miss Elvira Porter, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Crampton and daughter, Miss Grace Crampton. Unique announcement of the wedding date was made last night at the meeting of the Girls' Friendly society of St. Mark's Episcopal church, of which Miss Crampton is past president and an active member. Miss Jane Isitt, little cousin of Miss Crampton, who will act as ring bearer at the wedding, marched into the room just as Miss Crampton finished playing the accompaniment for a solo, and played a wedding march. She was dressed as a bride, with white dress, long wedding veil ruffled high in back, and held in place with orange blossoms. She carried a bride's bouquet which she threw after marching around in the room. Miss Marie Powers caught the bouquet. Concealed in the flowers was a note telling of the date for the wedding. The wedding date was also announced this afternoon as a surprise feature at the meeting of Chapter C. J. P. E. O., of which Miss Crampton is a member. At the home of Mrs. W. W. Hamilton, 327 West Garfield avenue, Miss Crampton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Crampton of 325 West Burchett street, and is a graduate of Glendale Union High school. Mr. Wehe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Wehe of Lakota, North Dakota, and is an engineer with the state railroad commission in San Francisco. He is a graduate of the University of North Dakota and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston, Mass. During the World War he served as an ensign in the United States navy for over eighteen months and also took a course at Annapolis.

He stole upstairs and past Philippa's door on tiptoe, but softly as he went, Philippa heard and called to him. Mindful of his uncle's injunction that she was not to be alarmed, he summoned a smile, and chided her playfully for being awake at such an unholy hour.

The small white occupant of the white couch stretched out a welcoming hand. "You didn't come to exorcise the evil spirits, so what could you expect," she complained. "All the 'Happy Thoughts' took their dinner-pails and went off on strike. They needed you to read them the riot act. And as soon as they were gone the other lot came even that wicked 'Curse God and Die' thought."

"Tut-tut, he is a bad one!" "I know—but he came. And they climbed up on my bed and took hands and danced round and round, and made faces at me."

"The cheek of them!" cried Graham.

"And then they heard your step on the stairs and they ran away like black night things from the sun."

Graham lifted the hand he held and laid his cheek against it.

"Let's forget pains and bad thoughts and everything and play our game, shall we?" he said. "You'll be bad things and I'll be good things, and see if I don't beat you! Come now—the word shall be Philippa, and I'll begin. P is for posies, poems, primroses, pearls—"

Philippa smiled at him indulgently, as one smiles at the foolishness of a beloved child. "You blind person, won't you ever see that I'm too old for baby games now," she said. "I'm 18; I'm grown up—at least the inside of me is—that is, just as grown up as if I were six feet tall." She laughed her little, thin, tinkling laugh. Then suddenly a shiver of horror shook her. "Eighteen years like mine ought to be enough. You don't think there will be many more of them, do you?" she whispered. Then she laughed again. "I'm silly tonight. There's been a black cloud over my mind. I've had a feeling that something was happening—something that concerned you, Jack-o'-my-heart. You're different somehow. Tell me about it. Begin at the beginning!"

"Tyrant!" he laughed. Then obediently he recounted the extraordinary happenings of the night, leaving out only the loss of her bracelet. When all was told he waited expectantly for her first word. He had such a curious faith in the almost uncanny intuition of his witch, as he called her, that he half-expected her to throw instant light on the dark problem of Hannibal Hurst's murder. But her words when they came at last startled him.

"Is she very beautiful?" she asked.

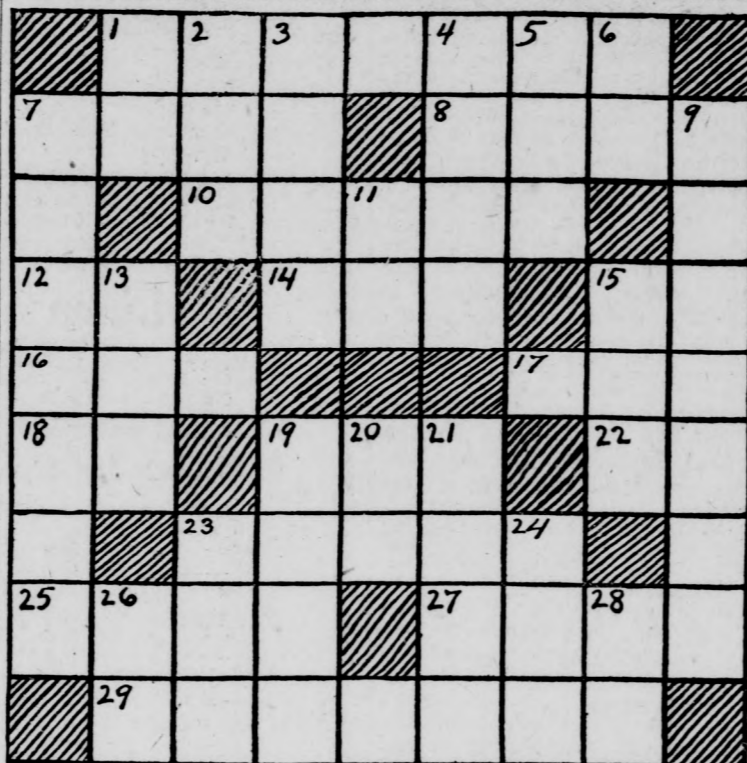

Graham could have wished that the eyes of her soul, as she was apt to phrase it, had been, for once, less kind. "You're different," he said. "But tell me, witch, what you make of it all."

"I'll try to dream about it," she said. "Perhaps tomorrow I'll see true. You see, I just lie here out of all the sights and sounds of the world, and I shut my eyes and everything fades away. The real things grow farther and farther away, and by and by I'm in a great, wide stillness full of light—a strange, wonderful light. And then the dreams come and tell me things."

"Witch, dear, ask them to tell you things for me," Graham whispered. "I'm all in a fog."

"I can't dream about people I've never seen," she demurred.

CROSS WORD PUZZLE

COMPILED FOR GLENDALE EVENING NEWS READERS

HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE

The way to solve the Cross Word Puzzle is to fill in the white squares of the diagram with the words which agree with the accompanying definitions. The definitions are numbered to correspond with the numbers on the diagram. Any word defined in the text under "HORIZONTAL" will begin at its number, shown on the diagram, and will extend all the way across to the first black space to the right of that number. That is, the word must begin in the square that contains its identifying number, and extend as far as the white squares continue uninterrupted. Any word defined under "VERTICAL" will also begin in the white space that contains its number, but will extend downward as far as the white squares remain uninterrupted.

And Philippa, pain forgotten, listened and dreamed—dreamed that she was beautiful and strong and that he loved her; that they were walking together through a garden sweet with roses. She could feel the grass her feet had never touched, soft and cool beneath them. She dreamed that it was to her he was singing; that she was whom he loved through time and eternity. It was her moment of ecstasy. Then Graham closed the piano, and she awoke.

THE GLENDALE

Everyone is familiar with the human pest who is forever imagining something ails him. The highbrow name for one of these insects as a hypochondriac, and Reginald Denry, has such a role in "Oh, Doctor!" which shows today for the last times at the Glendale theatre. The story, one of the funniest ever to reach the screen, is from the pen of Harry Leon Wilson and ran serially in The Saturday Evening Post.

The best opportunity for Denry to emphasize his subtlety of character portrayal comes when, having fallen in love with his beautiful nurse, portrayed by Mary Astor, he battles with himself to overcome his obsession regarding his own health and to act like a normal human being.

Mary Astor has the leading feminine role, that of the nurse. Others in the cast are Otis Harlan, William Moray, Tom Ricketts, Lucille Ward, Mike Donlin, Clarence Geldert, Blanche Payson, George Kuwa, Martha Mattox and Helen Lynch.

Max Fisher's celebrated orchestra is an added feature today at the Glendale theatre. Tomorrow

Viola Dana and Milton Sills open in "The Heart Bandit," said to be one of their funniest.

THE GATEWAY

The Gateway theatre is showing the last times today "The Thief of Bagdad" starring Douglas Fairbanks. There is a surprise feature of a stereoscopic comedy. The bill for Wednesday is Viola Dana in "Along Came Ruth" with a distinguished cast. The bill is augmented by the usual Wednesday feature of advanced vaudeville.

The screen's most vivacious little comedienne has one of her best roles as Ruth Ambrose, the girl who woke up the sleepiest town in Maine. Cramped with amusing situations and acted by a wonderful cast, "Along Came Ruth" is sure to satisfy the most critical who seek entertainment of a fresh variety. Winifred Dunn adapted the Henry W. Savage stage production of Holman Day's play, and Eddie Cline directed. John Arnold was cameraman.

Miss Dana's supporting cast includes Tully Marshall, Raymond McKee, Walter Hiers, Victor Potel and Gale Henry.

UNCLE WIGGILY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY PAINTS A FLOOR

"It certainly is terrible! That's what it is! Just terrible!" Nurse Jane was speaking thus, and Uncle Wiggily, who was reading the morning paper as he sat in his easy chair, heard her.

"What's so terrible, Jane?" he asked, as he saw his muskrat lady housekeeper looking in the parlor of the hollow stump bungalow.

"This floor," she answered. "It needs painting. You and I have scratched it very badly with our paw nails, running in to see what's on the radio. The floor is a disgrace! It makes even the nice new Oriental rug look shabby."

"Well, I'm glad it isn't anything worse than a floor that needs painting," said the bunny gentleman with a laugh. "At first I thought when you spoke of something terrible, that the Skilley Skilley Alligator was after you."

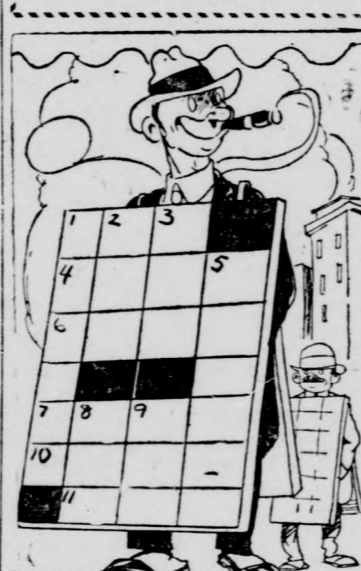

"Not quite as sad as that!" spoke Nurse Jane. "But do you really think you can paint the floor?"

"I know I can," answered Uncle Wiggily, confident like, and twinkling his pink nose most generously where Nurse Jane could see him do the trick.

Once Mr. Longears had anything to do, like painting a floor or solving a cross-word puzzle he got right at it. So he lost no time in putting on his hat, and, taking his red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch, in case he might need it, he hopped to the fifteen and sixteen cent store to get some paint.

"What color do you want?" asked the dog gentleman, who kept the shop.

"Floor color!" answered the bunny.

"What color is that? Some folks went red floors, some blue and some pink. Now which is it—red, green, blue, yellow or purple?"

"Yes," answered Uncle Wiggily. "That will do."

"But which one? Which one?" barked the dog. "Oh, you make me so nervous!"

"Ha! That's a good color!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "Give me a nervous color for the floor."

"Well, you are the limit!" barked the dog. So he mixed a lot of red, green, yellow, purple and pink paint together and gave it to the rabbit.

"Oh, what a lovely shade!" cried Nurse Jane when a little later, Uncle Wiggily began to paint the floor. "What color do you call it?"

"Nervous," answered the bunny gentleman.

"How odd!" laughed Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy.

Uncle Wiggily continued to paint the floor. Now he should have begun at one side and worked his way back until he reached a door, out of which he could have gone. But, instead, he painted on all sides of the room, one after the other, and the first thing he knew he was on a sort of little island of unpainted floor, while all about him was wet, sticky paint.

"Ho! Ho! Now I have done it!" laughed the rabbit. "I'll have to stay on this unpainted island of floor until the other part dries so I can walk across it. Oh, well, no matter. I shall have a rest."

So he rested himself on the unpainted island, waiting for the painted part to dry, and, while he was there, into the bungalow popped the Bob Cat. By this time Uncle Wiggily had fallen asleep.

"Now's my chance to get him!" whispered the Bob Cat, curling his whiskers. The Bob Cat didn't know anything about paint, so he stepped right on the fresh part of the floor. Then his paws stuck fast in the sticky paint.

"Oh, wow! Wow! Bow-wow!" howled the Bob Cat. He tried to pull his paws loose, but the paint held them fast. Then Uncle Wiggily awakened and loudly cried for the Police Dog, who came with some turpentine, which loosened the Bob Cat's paws. Then the bad chap was taken off to jail, and maybe he's there yet.

After a while the paint dried, Uncle Wiggily finished the little island and backed out of the room and then he and Nurse Jane went to the movies and had a jolly good laugh. And if the ice pick doesn't pull the whiskers out of the dusting brush to make a tickler for the gold fish, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's rheumatism crutch.

'CRIPPLED' SHEEP

SACRAMENTO, March 17.—Care of "crippled" sheep and lambs left by the wayside by shepherds while driving their flocks from old pastures to new, has resulted in enabling Mrs. Anna Powell, who lives on a farm near Yuba City, to purchase a ticket to her old home in Wales and plan a visit for the first time in forty years.

Huli Trucks Cinch Top Place, Defeat Milkmen

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff.

The Huli Trucks cinched top place in the Glendale Merchants Basketball league last night by defeating the Calla Lily aggregation 28 to 25 in a game that was marked by speed and desperate fighting from start to finish. The truckmen's victory forced the milkmen down into third place and placed them in a position where it will be impossible for them to head off the truckmen, unless both of the two remaining teams on the Trucks' schedule defeat the league-leaders.

Had the Calla Lily team overcome the truckmen last night, a tie for first place would have resulted at the end of the week, and would have been carried out to the end of the season, making a post-season game necessary. The standing of the two teams now is:

W. L. Pet.
Huli Trucks 9 1 900
Calla Lily 6 3 667

By a strange coincidence, the Huli Trucks defeated the milkmen by the same score turned in on February 2. In the earlier game the milkmen came from behind to take the lead in the second quarter, only to be nosed out in the final minutes of play. Last night the truckmen took the lead in the early part of the initial quarter and were never headed. The game by details follows:

First Quarter
Calla Lily chose east goal. Huli Trucks west goal. Game started at 7:51 p. m. Wilde (H. T.) got the tipoff, and shot the ball to Fasset, who passed to C. Jensen. In the mad scramble under the truckmen's basket, Jensen (H. T.) and Fasset (H. T.) missed several chances to score. The ball was worked down into the milkmen's territory, but Talbert (C. L.) shot went wild. Doll (H. T.) called for holding. Hyatt (C. L.) missed the free throw. More than two minutes of hard fighting had elapsed before Jensen (H. T.) caged a goal from the center when Avery muffed Randall's throw-in. Talbert made his first free throw a moment later on Wilde holding. The ball was worked up and down the court for three minutes, both teams trying desperately to locate the basket, before Talbert evened up the count by making a free throw on Jensen's foul, pushing, 2-2. He missed the first but made the second. Jensen missed free throw on Avery's foul, holding. Eight minutes had elapsed. Fasset made free throw, Randall holding, 3-2. Fasset shot from under basket for goal, 5-2. Jensen caged a rolling shot, 7-2. Talbert shot from under the basket a moment later, 7-4. Doll missed a free throw, Shingledecker pushing, as the quarter ended: Huli Trucks 7; Calla Lily 4.

Second Quarter
Talbert put his team within striking distance when he made two free throws a minute after the second quarter ended on Wilde holding, 7-6. Doll widened the truckmen's margin three minutes after the period opened by making a free throw, Shingledecker's technical foul, talking, 8-6. Three minutes of hard fighting before Fasset found the hoop from underneath, 10-6, and made two more baskets in quick succession, 12-6 and 14-6. Shortly after the tipoff a foul called on Doll, pushing, gave Talbert two shots. He missed the first time but made the second, 14-7. With less than two minutes to go for half time, the milkmen began to fight for points. Avery caged a basket from the center of the floor, 14-9, and Talbert shot one from the side, 14-11. Fasset made a goal as the half ended: Huli Trucks 16; Calla Lily 11.

Third Quarter
One minute after the second half opened Avery made a pretty shot from midfloor, 16-13. Fasset missed the free throw on Kerns' technical foul, failing to report to scorekeeper. Jensen caught the rebound and after the ball had been passed around as the milkmen guarded closely, Jensen caged a goal, 18-13. Shingledecker missed a free throw, Denny holding. The ball was worked down under the truckmen's basket but the forwards were missing consistently. Talbert and Avery took the ball up the court to the milkmen's basket and Talbert shot. The casaba rolled around the hoop but failed to register. Avery caught the rebound and caged a goal, 18-15. Jensen got the ball shortly after the tipoff, and shot a basket from the center ring, 20-15. Talbert shot from under the goal, 20-17. Two minutes of hard fighting for possession of the ball and numerous tries for goal passed before Fasset caged one, 22-17. The shot was from midfloor and brought the spectators to their feet. A minute later he shot one from the side, 24-17. On the next play Talbert caged a basket, 24-19. In a mad scramble for the ball in midfloor, a foul was called on Wilde, pushing, as the quarter ended: Huli Trucks 24; Calla Lily 19.

Fourth Quarter
Kerns opened the fourth quarter by missing the free throw on Wilde's foul in the third period. A minute later Shingledecker missed a free throw on Wilde's foul, pushing. E. Jensen took Wilde's place. Avery missed a free throw. C. Jensen pushing. Doll made the first points in the final period after six minutes of playing had elapsed, by caging a goal, 26-19. Denny found the hoop a minute later, 28-19. Three minutes to play. Talbert got the tipoff after Denny's goal and shot from midfloor. The ball went true, 28-21. Shingledecker missed a free throw, Denny blocking. Talbert made two free throws, E. Jensen holding, 28-23. Shingledecker shot from midfloor a few seconds before the half ended: Huli Trucks 28; Calla Lily 25.

The Lineups:
Huli Trucks (28) Calla Lily (25)
Fasset (15) R.P. Avery (6)
Doll (3) F. Shingledecker (6)
C. Jensen (8) C. Talbert (17)
Denny (2) R.G. Hyatt (1)
Wilde Randall
Substitutions: E. Jensen for Wilde; Kerns for Randall.

Eleven fouls were committed by the truckmen in last night's game, while five personal and two technical fouls were committed by the milkmen. The summary shows: Huli Trucks—Fasset, no fouls; Doll, two fouls, resulting in three throws, one made; C. Jensen, two fouls, three throws, one made; Denny, two fouls, two throws, none made; Wilde, four fouls, five throws, three made; E. Jensen, one foul, two throws, two made. Calla Lily—Avery, one foul, resulting in one throw, none made; Shingledecker, two personal, one technical fouls, three throws, one made; Talbert, no fouls; Hyatt, one foul, two throws, none made; Randall, one foul, two throws, one made; Kerns, one technical foul, one throw, none made.

The milkmen led in the number of free throws converted into points, getting seven points on fifteen free throws. Talbert made seven out of nine. Avery made one out of one, and Shingledecker, Hyatt and Kerns each missed their only chance. For the Huli Trucks, Fasset made one out of three, Doll one out of three, and C. Jensen missed three; giving the truckmen two points out of nine on free throws they were entitled to.

Before the start of the game the milkmen announced they would enter an official protest to the Huli Trucks-Legion game of last Thursday night when the truckmen played a game with only four men. The individual scores made by the truckmen and the Legion casaba tossers will therefore be counted in the season's totals.

The milkmen will have no chance to regain second place this week, for even if they defeat the Legion tonight, their percentage will be .700, while the Radios have a percentage of .714, and are sure of a victory Thursday night when they meet the M. E. churchmen. The Radios will play the Faculty Five a practice game tomorrow night while the Standard Oilers are meeting the Christian churchmen.

Tonight's battle will see the

RINGSIDE GOSSIP by FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, March 17.—Bartling Siki looks today like a dark cloud after the sun has come out from behind it; not much left of him. The singular Senegalese has been going about this country throwing dinner plates at waiting and doing strange and curious things outside his profession as a wallpoper, then climbing into the ring and stalling off some second or third rater, or some good man who was not much of a hitter.

But Friday night at the Madison Square Garden Siki faced a first class wallpoper—a batterer with a killer instinct and a forceful punch. In other words, Paul Berlenbach.

From the very minute Siki entered the ring at the Madison Square Garden it was plain that he was drawing more upon his reputation as a strange and ridiculous figure—just as the promoter had done—than as a man who really had much hope of doing anything serious to his opponent.

But he is a good boxer is Siki, and for the first five rounds he made it pretty hard for Paul to connect with any effect, although offensively the negro did nothing to indicate he had any idea or any ability of making a battle out of it.

After that fifth frame it came to be a question just how long it would take for Berlenbach to batter a punching bag to pieces. It turned out to be one of the rankst fights seen at the Garden in a long time.

Siki was game, that much could be said for him. Berlenbach could not drop him for the count, try as he would.

But Siki had no offense to show. Finally, in the tenth round, as he hung helpless upon the ropes, yet refusing to flop, the fight was stopped.

HEAVYWEIGHTS AT VERNON TONIGHT

Tony Fuente And Huffman To Provide Main Event Of Ten Rounds

Tonight's battle at Jack Doyle's Vernon arena will prove if Tony Fuente, who disturbed the Culver City atmosphere slightly before Fred Fulton did one of his flops, is a real fighter or not. Tony meets Eddie Huffman, a tough hombre, in the ten-round main event at Vernon tonight. The sailor lad has been climbing up the ladder of success rapidly, and will enter the ring tonight determined to keep the Mexican boy from stopping the upward journey.

Low Rollinger and Ernie Owens are to renew their little argument in an eight-round semi-windup battle. Rollinger holds a decision over Owens. Rollinger is only 18 years old, and came to sunny California from Wisconsin, where he attended school. Owens is a favorite around Vernon, but is listed as an in-an-out fighter, sometimes not being in form.

Kid Mexico and Jack Ketchell are billed for the feature preliminary, four rounds. Ad Collins and Dutch Crozier are down for four rounds, and Harry Lee meets Jack Lee in the opening bout, four rounds.

Calla Lily aggregation on the floor again, when they meet the Legion team at the Harvard High school gym. The milkmen should have no trouble overcoming the former service men. After tonight's contest, only two games remain on the milkmen's schedule for the balance of the season. The Standard Oilers will be the opponents next week, and the Christian church the following week.

Tomorrow night the Standard Oilers and Christian church are billed for a game, while Thursday night the Radios will meet the M. E. church. The game Thursday night should develop into a real contest, as the Radios are in third place and the churchmen are holding down fourth spot.

WALSH PREDICTS GIANTS WILL WIN

Sport Expert Believes They Have Better Team This Season Than Last

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.
SARASOTA, Fla., March 17.—The writer viewed what he is pleased to believe are the next champions of the National league. The New York Giants are the outfit in question. If the Giants were good enough to win last season with what they had, they are, or should be, good enough to repeat with what they now have.

That remark is made in full cognizance of the fact that an outright victory for McGraw will give him five pennants in a row, which is not being done with great ease and frequency. Yet, the bet goes as it lies. The Giants are as much as 30 points stronger than they were at this or any time last year. It is a club that is only coming to the real flush of its ability.

Frisch, Kelly, Jackson, Young, Wilson, Bentley and Virgil Barnes have anywhere from five to ten years of usefulness before them. Groh is aging, but Fred Lindstrom is waiting to step in without further notice. Bill Terry could play first base regularly for almost any other club in the league. Howard Baldwin, Wayland Dean, Walter Huntzinger and Ernie Mann, adolescent pitchers, are a much improved lot for their single year on the big time, according to McGraw.

Good Outfield
McGraw declines to give any intimation of what his plans in the outfield may be, as all the regulars seem to be well gifted to take care of their positions. McGraw has two enthusiasts to wit: Koehler and John Scott, the almost annual redemptionists.

"Koehler made five sensational catches in a row in a game the other day," McGraw said. "He starts with the crack of the bat, plays the hitter well and seems to know what he is about. I like the way he stands up to the plate. Scott is ready to pick up where he left off after beating the Yankees in the 1922 series. I think he realizes now that baseball is a business, not an outing."

Koehler's chance may be delayed a year while he picks up big-time ways in some small league. If Meusel comes back, and many think he will, he is to be the club's left fielder, with Wilson breaking in now and then. Southworth and Walker, or Southworth and Wilson, will collaborate in center field, depending upon whether the opposing pitcher favors the left or right hand. Young, of course, will oblige in right field.

Others on Team
Some of the critics are highly enamored of Walker and in addition to his natural attainments, allege he is a gentleman of mental ability. My only contribution is that I saw him make a highly-sensational running catch of a foul ball after which the Boston Brave on third base scored a run that gave his club the lead.

However, Walker may be all that they say of him and more and so may Hal Crump of Southwestern university, a third baseman. Also John Wiener, the pitcher from Rochester, about whom George Stallings is prone to boast.

These are a few of the men that prevent the Giants from being what they ought to be, a stand-pat ball club. Nehf, Ryan, Bentley, Scott, Barnes and McQuinn are as good as they ever will be, although it is the prevailing opinion that McQuinn is due for a big year. He is considerably heavier and the extra weight will come in handy after August 15. He always was a fine spring pitcher.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

SHREVEPORT, La., March 17.—Eddie Collins, the major league's youngest manager, in point of service, is spending a good part of his time down here trying to decide which of three good shortstops to use in plugging up the Chicago White Sox infield.

This almost embarrassing wealth of shortstoppers, which comes after a lean year at that position, consists of McClellan, Davis and Butler. If he picks the right one, the Sox have every chance of keeping at least out of the American League cellar.

Collins may not make his decision until the season is practically on him. McClellan is being worked out at second base just now, and it seems safe to say that he will remain with the team if not as shortstop, then as understudy to Collins. That would leave either Davis or Butler, for the regular short and the unused one of the pair for the utility man.

Davis is a long, rangy player who resembles to some extent Arthur Fletcher, especially in his way of handling the ball. He has Fletcher's manner of starting for first base and looms with an easy gait that suggests a lot of power tied up in his legs and body. He was with Columbus last year.

Butler is closer to the ground. He smoothes the ball instead of going after it with a free arm motion. Both of them throw well. If McClellan should finally bolt up as the regular short, Collins would have a hard time deciding which of the other two to keep on the utility job. It is two to one that he will keep all three as long as possible.

Sheely, the Sox first baseman, is one big league player who has come to training camp without any excess poundage trailing after him. "I've been practicing running," he explained. "Took off five pounds and can get to first base a step faster than I did in 1924." "That moves your batting average up ten points," some one suggested.

"Yes—and also removes the assertion that I am the slowest first baseman in the American League," retorted Sheely. "Boys, I got tired of hearing that. I am a reformed man." Kamm was on the diamond at the first practice after his arrival. The acme of smooth motion, the height of precision, the easiest ball player on this or almost any other team, Kamm is a treat to the eyes of the student of athletics. What is sensational for others is merely an incident for Kamm. He makes nothing difficult. It would be an unusual sight to see him attempt a play that actually stretched him to the limit.

There is a wholly different atmosphere surrounding the Sox this year. Last season, at Winter Haven, Fla., they were run, haphazard without a manager. Evers was acting manager and it was no secret that he and the Sox did not get along very well together. During this period things happened which, when Evers actually became manager, caused bitterness that lasted all season.

There is no question that the players are pleased to have Collins as their boss. In the first place they respect him, and in the second place they know that he is going to have his way. Eddie has developed managerial ability along that line this early. His long experience as a player and as a captain is proving of great value to him.

LADDER TOURNAMENT DRAWING GOLFERS

Event Extended One Week at Oakmont Country Club As Players Enter

Members of the tournament committee at Oakmont Country club have decided to extend the ladder tournament one week to enable all golfers at the club to participate. The tournament has been under way several weeks. More than sixty of the club's golfers have entered the tournament, and the competition for top place is keen.

In an interesting game played on the club links yesterday H. B. Sutton beat Dan W. Green one up. E. P. Davis had a chance to make the nine-hole course in 33 Sunday but ran into a streak of hard luck and finished the round in 36.

Boxing NOTES

AT EAST CHICAGO—Bermondsey Billy Wells of England knocked out Rem Williams, Detroit, seventh round.
AT NEW YORK—Harry London, featherweight, defeated Johnny Curtin of Jersey City, six rounds; Jack Hausner beat Earl Baird of California in six.
AT BALTIMORE—Joe Dundee won decision over Sid Barbarian, twelve rounds.
AT PHILADELPHIA—Lew Tandler of Philadelphia received referee's decision over Nate Goldman, Philadelphia, ten; Leo Gates of New York won on a technical knockout from Tex McEwan of Canada, seven rounds.

Owners Of Seals Bar O'Connell From Field

SAN FRANCISCO, March 17.—Jimmy O'Connell, former New York Giant star, banned from baseball by Judge Landis, today was under ban of owners of the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast league, who informed O'Connell he could not work out, as he requested, with San Francisco players.

The club owners denied that O'Connell had been refused the right to solicit business for his clothes-dressing shop here from ball players, stating his desire to work out on the diamond was all that was denied him.

Friend Saves Friend From Operation For Kidney Trouble

Alvita Restores Health
Worried for three years by thoughts of an operation, R. G. Frazer, 954 So. Grand Ave., Pasadena, Calif., takes advice of a friend and regains his health by use of Alvita. Here is Mr. Frazer's own story:

"For the past three years I had serious thoughts of an operation, due to a serious case of kidney and prostatic trouble. In talking to a friend regarding this trouble he suggested I try Alvita, assuring me it did me no good it would surely do me no harm, as it was purely vegetable compound. I used to suffer great pain, getting up four or five times each night, and I want to tell you I am entirely relieved after taking one month's treatment of Alvita. Do you know it has even helped my appetite." Alvita is prepared in highly concentrated tablet form from the deep-rooted alfalfa plant, which by scientific analysis is rich in lime, iron and phosphates. Unlike drugs, Alvita is a vegetable remedy, which has proved especially beneficial in building up weakened, run-down conditions, and in overcoming kidney, bladder and prostate trouble. No matter what you have tried, try this remedy of nature now.

Ahlmann Drug Co., Brand at Harvard, will supply vial. Mail orders accepted.—Advertisement.

$331,000 ART THEFT NEAR SOLUTION

Taxi-Cab Driver Throws Light On Mystery Of Hollywood Steal

LOS ANGELES, March 17.—Arrests, according to the police, were expected to be made today in connection with the robbery here on February 21, of $331,000 of valuable paintings from the Hollywood home of M. Weinshenck.

The new "lead" as to the identity of the alleged robbers, it was learned, was contained in a letter written to the authorities by a taxi-cab driver revealing that on the night of the theft he had driven two men to the Weinshenck home and that for the use of his car had been given two valuable paintings, which he claims he sold to a local art dealer for $20, when in reality the works of art were worth $200,000.

In his letter to the police, the taxi driver, signed himself as "Pete" and claimed he would help unravel the mystery they provided no charges were lodged against him. The officers are said to have agreed to this.

Judge Ross Will Quit Circuit Court Position

office of his uncle. He is now residing at Santa Monica.

Judge Ross has perhaps the longest service record of any judicial officer in the United States, having been appointed to the circuit court bench for the ninth judicial district by President Cleveland in January, 1887. Some of his decisions during his long years of notable service on the bench have made history. He is one of the most widely known jurists in the nation, with probably fewer reversals than any federal judge on the bench.

He became eligible to retirement at full pay when he reached the age of 70, but has continued in the service without letup. Advancing age is believed to have prompted his request to the president for retirement.

One of Judge Ross' most famous decisions was that in the Debs railroad rebellion case, when he overturned by his decision an opinion of the then Attorney General Olney. This famous decision later aided the roads of the nation in combating the activities of strikers. The United States supreme court upheld Judge Ross in his decision, when the case was appealed.

He was admitted to the practice of law in California in 1869 and ten years later elected judge of the state supreme court for a three-year term. At the expiration of that term he was re-elected for a full term of twelve years, but on October 1, 1886, resigned and resumed the practice of law as a partner of the late Senator Stephen M. White. Three months later he was appointed to the circuit court of appeals by President Cleveland.

Advancement Body To Seek Better Service

A special committee from the Glendale Advancement association to confer with P. L. Hatch, manager of the Glendale and Montrose railway and act in accordance with his desires in an effort to get better service over the Los Angeles line of the company, was appointed at the meeting of the advancement association today. This action followed a report by President C. W. Ingledue in his inspection tour a week ago when representatives of the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations traveled into Los Angeles over the road. Mr. Ingledue scored both officials of the Chamber of Commerce and members of his own association for not showing more interest in the betterment of service over the Glendale avenue line. The committee will be composed of C. C. Kinch, J. F. McClish and F. W. McIntyre.

Three aspirants to the city council in the April election report, briefly at the meeting of the association today noon, held at the Harbette MacTeague room. They were Councilman Harry G. MacBain, Dr. Paul S. Traxler and S. C. Kinch.

Asks Data on Airship Made in Glendale

A request from Hamburg, Germany, for information and plans for two types of aircraft made in Glendale, was received in this city today from Alfred Gynnich, European aeronautical expert and publisher of a number of well-known works on aviation. The request is contained in a letter to Dr. T. C. Young asking for plans on his cabin ship, "Argonaut" and also complete data on the Kinner Airster, manufactured at the Glendale Airport. Gynnich is about to publish a new book on "Latest Developments of the Aircraft" and wishes to give the Glendale publication space in this publication, he states in his letter.

School Girls Refuse Baths Under Shower

SAN DIEGO, March 17.—"High school girls refuse absolutely to take shower baths at school, despite perspiration due to athletics," said Superintendent Johnson today in requesting the Board of Education to increase shower facilities for boys at the expense of the strictly modern but unused equipment provided for the girls.

"We do not know why the girls won't shower. It's one of the mysteries," the schoolmaster added.

Colorado Pact Ratification Calls Battle Formation In Assembly

SACRAMENTO, March 17.—Battle lines were drawn as the Assembly convened this morning for the first major skirmish of the session, following action of the Assembly committee on federal relations last night in reporting out with favorable recommendation the Finney resolution calling for ratification of the Colorado river compact with reservations.

Proponents of the so-called Herbert Hoover resolution, which was "tabled" by the committee, drew plans this morning to block action on the Finney resolution, while backers of ratification with reservations were determined to secure early action on their resolution.

The Finney resolution provides that ratification of the compact shall not become effective until California, Arizona and Nevada have been assured of an ample water supply under the project by government authorization of the construction of a huge storage dam.

Another big fight loomed in the lower house today as a result of the action of the Assembly revenue and taxation committee in reporting out without recommendation the Hartranft constitutional amendment to tax publicly-owned public utilities.

Sargent of Vermont Is Proposed By President

cial session of the Sixty-ninth Senate, which has already made history in the twelve days it has been in session, will adjourn for the summer.

Called Able Lawyer Sargent is almost unknown in Washington officialdom, except that part which hails from Vermont, and Massachusetts. There was, however, an unmistakable air of relief apparent in the Senate on both sides of the chamber that the "Warren case" was ended.

"I don't know anything about Mr. Sargent," said Senator Borah. "But I understand he is an able lawyer in Vermont. And I do not anticipate any opposition to his confirmation."

"Mr. Sargent should be promptly confirmed unless something seriously develops against him," said Senator Reed, Democrat, of Missouri.

Public announcement of Sargent's name sent all official Washington buzzing.

Sargent graduated from Tufts college with the class of 1887. He was not admitted to the bar until three years later, in 1890, and he then became a member of the firm of Stickney, Sargent & Skeels.

Winsor county in 1890, secretary of civil and military affairs in Vermont in 1900-1902, and in 1908 was elected to be attorney general of the state. He served until 1912 and for the last dozen years has been practicing his profession.

"There was but a slight flare-up when Senator Cummins made the motion to send Sargent's name to the judiciary committee. It was done in open session, and Senator Norris, Republican, of Nebraska, one of Warren's opponents, sarcastically called attention to the Senate rule that provides secrecy concerning nominations for high office.

"One of the ancient rules of the Senate is that the things should be done in secret," said Norris.

"The rule permits the publication of a name of a president nomination," replied Cummins. Senator Moses, Republican, New Hampshire, president pro tem, ordered the nomination read, and immediately it was sent to committee without objection.

DOLLAR DRUNK

LIMA, O., March 17.—Getting drunk on Police Chief Lanker's money is the unique experience of Grant Smith, forty-eight, farmer. Released from city prison, Smith was presented with a dollar bill by Chief Lanker, who urged him to "straighten up and go to work." Becoming fatigued in his quest for work, Smith invested the dollar in a bottle of stimulant. The thirteenth-quercher kicked him into a ditch, where police found him.

POLA'S BOAST IS DENIED BY GARTZ

Wealthy Young Pasadena Reported 'Next Hubby' Of Film Actress

LOS ANGELES, March 17.—"Nothing is anything but publicity on Miss Negri's part." Such was the quotation attributed today to Mrs. Kate Crane Gartz, mother of Cranie Gartz, young Pasadena millionaire, who, according to reports from New York quoting Pola Negri, will be the actress' next husband. Mrs. Gartz made the statement, it was claimed, after reaching her son when he was reported not to be in his apartment.

"It is all too impossible," Mrs. Gartz was quoted as saying. "Cranie had known her but a week before she went east. My son says there is nothing to it. It must be her publicity. I guess—nothing but publicity."

It was also claimed by friends of the Gartz family that last night young Gartz received a telegram from Pola Negri telling him not to believe whatever he might see in the newspapers. Other than this, the actress is said to have offered no explanation.

Once before, in 1921, young Gartz jumped into the spotlight of motion-picture publicity when he brought suit against Jacqueline Logan, former Follies girl, and now in pictures, for the recovery of a $2,500 automobile.

Scientist Admits Plot To Murder M'Clintock

member I met Shepherd by appointment in the Hotel Morrison and Shepherd said 'Billy was sick—of typhoid fever.'

Faiman said Shepherd added, "and I gave him the cathartic, as you advised, to hasten our cause." It was explained that cathartics would speed the progress of typhoid in the human body.

Mrs. James D. Davidson and her sister, Miss Ruby Peel, of Albuquerque, N. M., were taken into custody when they stepped off a Santa Fe train here. They had come to Chicago, they said, in response to a telegram from Shepherd. Both were taken to the state's attorney's office and held incommunicado. It was to their home that Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd went for a rest after Billy McClintock's death.

Shepherd Hurls 'Lie' CHICAGO, March 17.—"I wasn't impressed by the confession of Dr. C. C. Faiman. It didn't interest me even enough to warrant my interrupting him. I let him rave on, and when he was through, I told him it was a lie to protect my constitutional rights."

This was the comment of William D. Shepherd this afternoon on the statements of his chief accuser in the McClintock death probe. It was made in the first interview granted newspapermen since he was taken into custody.

Mrs. Shepherd made her usual visit to her husband, in custody at the Briggs house today. Dressed as usual, in black, she entered the hotel hurriedly through a side door and stayed hardly fifteen minutes. She was accompanied by an attorney from her husband's law firm.

'Diploma Mill' CHICAGO, March 17.—Dr. C. C. Faiman, outstanding state witness in the McClintock death probe, was branded as a medical charlatan, and his school, the University of Science, as a "diploma mill" in a formal statement issued by the American Medical association here today.

The statement declared that the records of the association, said to be the most complete in the country, fail to disclose that Faiman ever was graduated from a reputable medical college or had ever been licensed to practice medicine in any state in the United States.

Sweetheart Located LOS ANGELES, March 17.—In retirement in the home of friends in San Diego, according to reports here, Miss Isabelle Pope, sweetheart of the late William Nelson McCormick, "millionaire orphan," today received the news that Charles C. Faiman, head of the National University of Sciences, had confessed he conspired with William D. Shepherd, the youth's guardian, to remove the latter through the medium of a "scientific murder."

Miss Pope, according to friends, left Los Angeles, where she was located recently, when physicians ordered her into complete retirement to recuperate from the shock of her fiancé's death.

According to friends, Miss Pope will return as soon as she regains her health to Chicago, where she, it is desired by the prosecution, appear as one of the principal state witnesses against Shepherd in any prosecution that may be launched in connection with Faiman's confession.

BOY SCOUT PLANS TOLD BY SPEAKER

Harvey Cheesman Outlines Activities at Meeting Of Exchange Club

The training of Boy Scouts was described by Harvey Cheesman, Scout executive in Glendale, at a meeting of the Glendale Exchange club, held today noon at the Masonic temple. Mr. Cheesman outlined the purpose of the Scout organization and showed a number of stereopticon views taken on various camping and outing trips made by Glendale Boy Scouts.

Plans for the training school for Scoutmasters and Scout leaders, to be held next week at the Harvard High school, were discussed by Mr. Cheesman. Thirty-six men have enrolled already, and more are expected. Roy L. Kent will tender a banquet to the men next Monday night, he said. President William Baker presided at the meeting.

The club will select a new traffic route to Los Angeles and push the movement for a new highway. It was determined after Councilman C. E. Kimlin spoke on congressional conditions. President Baker introduced the civic committee, headed by W. R. Vandewood, to investigate the proposed route and report next week.

Bowling League Pete Neise was authorized to organize two bowling teams and issue challenges to other service clubs. Secretary T. F. Culhane read a letter from Glendale post-office employees thanking club members for their interest in the recent salary raise campaign. Announcement was made of a dinner dance given by the Pasadena club next Saturday night.

R. E. Johnston introduced a delegation from the Alhambra club, which was sponsored by the Glendale club. It was announced the Alhambra club will hold its eighth night and dinner dance on the night of April 14. The Glendale club voted $30 for entertainment on that night.

P. A. Kelley spoke on the auto show and said the Glendale dealers planned to hold a similar show each year. D. Ripley Jackson told the advantage of the two days' aerial rodeo here. The attendance prize, donated by Sam Warren, was won by Walter Sisson.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service

NEW YORK, March 17.—Encouraged by their success in unsettling prices in recent sessions and stimulated by another violent drop in prices of grains at Chicago and Winnipeg, the bears continued their "drive" against prices in the stock market today. Concentrating at first on the high-priced industrials, which they pounded down to lower prices than at Monday's close, the bears extended their operations to the oil stocks, then to the motors, and finally the rails.

By noon prices had reached a level which wiped out most of the January and February gains for important groups of stocks, while in some sections of the list new lows for the year were recorded. Trading fell off in the fourth hour and industrial market leaders started to climb back to higher price levels but their pace was very slow and much less impressive than the rallies staged in recent market sessions.

Unusual weakness in the oil stocks which failed completely as a buttress for the market, was due to disappointment in the financial district over price cuts in crude oil and in the easier trend in fuel oil. Drilling has increased tremendously in some fields and there is a prospect of bringing in some heavy producers in Texas.

Independent stocks brought 2 to 4 points on heavy selling and such well-known and active stocks as Cossden, Shell Union, Marland, sold at or near the low prices for 1925, in some cases breaking through their former low price levels.

Motor stocks likewise showed little resistance power in view of the very optimistic reports and surveys of the motor field recently published. In the scramble to sell stocks, prices dropped so quickly that wide gaps were opened in prices of active motor shares in a short time. Mack Trucks was steady but General Motors and Studebaker were weak. Motor accessory companies' stocks also declined to near the year's low level.

Stock sales: 2,467,400 shares; bonds, $14,888,000.

MARKET SUMMARY

LOS ANGELES, March 17.—With steady advancing prices for crude oil predicted as the inevitable consequence of declining production and stock depletions, the resourceful California oil production concerns will be launched into the most extensive prospecting campaigns in the history of the oil industry, local leaders believe.

Millions of dollars will be expended in testing every section regarded as a possible new source of production and of the untested district, the semi-proven field around Salton Sea basin, is one of the most probable of the large areas to yield production following the completion of tests, it is said.

A regular dividend of 2 cents a share on outstanding stock, amounting to $25,600 has been disbursed by the California Rand Silver, Inc., of Randsburg, Kern county. After payment of the dividend the company had cash resources of $566,803.

Are you evading this Income Tax?

YOU are not compelled to pay it. There's no revenue officer to say you must. It depends entirely on you.

Take the hint from your wise friends. They are taxing their monthly incomes a definite amount. Regularly, as pay day rolls around, you will find them at the bank, depositing that tax in a savings account. That's for opportunity! That's for security! That's for independence!

Don't cheat yourself. Don't evade the Income Tax you owe your future. The Pacific-Southwest Bank is helping your friends save. Help yourself and we'll be glad to help you, too.

'FILM ROW' LAUDS PLAYERS NEW ONE

Florence Dobinson's Latest Dramatic Offering Gets Favorable Comment

Many notables from Hollywood's "Film Row" joined the Glendale audience last night in acclaiming "The Ruined Lady," the cleverest, snappiest, best directed play to date of the Dobinson Players, who are offering a season of dramatic stock at the Playhouse theatre, Central avenue at Lexington drive.

Bessie Love, Dagmar Godowski and the tremendous Mitchell Lewis, who played the coal heaver in the Potboilers' recent production of Eugene O'Neill's "The Hairy Ape," were among the celebrities who came over to see Doris Lloyd act.

And that is exactly what they saw. This charming little English actress, who was seen recently in "Spring Cleaning" and in the film "The Lady," with Norma Talmadge, most certainly possesses a talent that will carry her far.

Director's Work
The credit for assembling the excellent cast and fashioning the whole into a finished production goes to Fred J. Butler, the new director secured by Mrs. Florence Dobinson to put on her productions, a man widely known for his direction of the Morisco company in Los Angeles. Joe Cox, stage manager and technical director, did creditable work last night in the role of Bixy, the butler.

It was announced by Mr. Butler that next week's play will be "Manna," a comedy-drama by Olga Printzlau, a play that was staged with much success by the Potboilers.

DEATHS - FUNERALS

FLOYD ALBERT GRAHAM
Floyd Albert Graham of Tuljunga, Tuljunga-Sunland correspondent and writer of the "Graham Crackers" feature column for The Glendale Evening News, died Monday morning March 16, 1925, at the age of 30 years. Mr. Graham was a native of Nebraska. He had lived in California twenty-two years, four of which had been spent at Tuljunga. During his residence in Los Angeles he was connected with the Union Oil Co. as cashier.

Because of poor health Mr. Graham moved to Tuljunga and there took up his correspondence for The News. He also wrote short stories. Just recently he was granted a leave of absence by The News and had gone to a sanitarium for treatment. Elizabeth W. Benedict, 308 East El Centro street, route 1, box 347, Tuljunga, took up the correspondence for The News.

Surviving Mr. Graham are his widow, Mrs. Dora Graham of Tuljunga; and his mother, Mrs. Stella Graham of Pasadena. The deceased was a member of the Woodmen lodge. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn Memorial park. Rev. "Bill" Smith of Sunland, is to officiate.

E. M. NICHOLS
Funeral services for E. M. Nichols, former resident of Glendale, who died Monday at a Los Angeles hospital, will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the Kiefer and Eyerich chapel, East Broadway. Rev. J. W. Arthur of Angelus temple, will officiate. Interment will take place in Grand View Memorial park. Mr. Nichols had many friends in Glendale, where he and his family lived for many years on Lomita avenue. He was a native of Watertown, Wis., and had resided in California for twenty years. While in Glendale he engaged in the real estate business. From Glendale the family moved to Seattle, and later returned to Los Angeles. The deceased was 71 years old. He had been in poor health for the last three months. He was at the home of his nephew, Al H. Nichols, 910 East Elk street, when he was taken to a Los Angeles hospital, where his death occurred. Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Maggie A. Nichols; a daughter, Mrs. C. L. Campbell; and a son, John C. Nichols. Mr. Nichols was an attendant at Angelus temple, Los Angeles.

MRS. ELIZABETH ROCK
Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth Rock, who died March 14, 1925, will be held at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning at Holy Family Catholic church. L. G. Scovern, director.

Constabulary Request Made By Traffic Head

SACRAMENTO, March 17.—Request for a state constabulary of 200 men to enforce traffic laws is made by Will H. Marsh, chief of the division of motor vehicles, in his biennial report. The dual system in force at present in which state and county authorities frequently conflict is deplored. Unless a state constabulary with complete jurisdiction is authorized by the legislature, return to complete county control is advocated by the division chief.

Lecture System Dying Out, Professor Says

LONDON, Mar. 17.—The lecture system is dying out in the prevailing desire for rational conversation, according to Sir Henry Myers, vice-chancellor of Manchester University. "For grown-up people in search of knowledge the lecture system is really dying out," he told a Manchester audience. "There is no longer the demand for it, for people nowadays want rational conversation," he said.

HILLIS SHOE SHOP LATEST FOR CITY

East Broadway Store Out Of High Rent District, Lower Prices

The Hillis Shoe store, 322 East Broadway, Glendale is the latest addition to business establishments in the city. Mr. Hillis, a resident of Glendale for the past two years and a resident of Southern California for the past eight years is the proprietor. Mr. Hillis previous to opening this new store was employed in the Broadway Department store, Los Angeles for several years in their shoe department.

Mr. Hillis is handling a line of high grade shoes for men, women and children, and he says they are made expressly for his store by eastern manufacturing concerns, they embody the very latest styles and patterns and are of the best grade materials and workmanship. It is Mr. Hillis' idea that by locating his business out of the high rent district he will be able to effect considerable savings in the retail price of his shoes, thus passing the lower prices and savings on to his customers.

RESUME WORK ON SWIMMING CLUB

Morse Construction Co. Has Contract To Complete
New Building

Construction work is again under way on the Glendale Swimming and Athletic club on Arden avenue near Central avenue after a delay caused by a change of contractors. The Morse Construction Co. of Glendale now has the contract to erect the building and expects to rush the work to completion.

According to B. F. Brennan, manager of the club, the date of the formal opening will not be materially changed and expects that within ninety days Glendale will have a fine and modern athletic club as will be found anywhere in the country.

The membership committee reports subscriptions to memberships being received rapidly and it is expected that the entire membership list will be completed in record time.

COLLEGE SWEETS

BERKELEY, March 17.—The academic sweet tooth is a reality. Candy plays quite an important part in the scheme of things at the University of California. "A bite of candy before giving a lecture" is the maxim of not a few professors. Miss Jane Argall, in charge of the candy booth at the University of California, is the authority for the above revelation.

Missionary Prospects Hear Chinese Worker

Rev. J. D. Olsen, missionary from Indo-China spoke to thirty-five young people of the Christian and Missionary Alliance church who are planning to become missionaries at a meeting held last night at the home of Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Christman at 373 Mission road. Rev. Olsen spoke of the opportunities for missionaries in his field.

The Christian and Missionary Alliance is the only church board having missionaries working among the Indo-Chinese. Rev. Olsen has been a missionary for seven years and is now en route to San Francisco and Santa Rosa. Two years training at the Missionary Training Institute at Nyack, on the Hudson, New York, is required before students enter the missionary field.

STRANGE INDIANS

LOS ANGELES, March 17.—A tribe of hitherto unknown Indians, who drink the blood of their slain enemies amid strange rites and incantations, was described here by Dr. L. Pedro Bozulla, of Quito, Ecuador, anthropologist and explorer.

FLAPPER CRAZE

DES MOINES, Ia., March 17.—A new fashion craze has been started in this city by girls of North Des Moines high school. In addition to usual wearing apparel, the girls are donning a pair of red striped, white topped socks over the long hosiery, and permit them to droop down around the ankles.
